19 GIs Perish in Crash

Transport May Have Hit Geese Plane Burns After Mishap in Idaho

PAYETTE, Idaho (AP)—An Air Force transport, apparently trying a wheels-down emergency landing crashed and burned with 19 servicemen aboard Thursday night. All were killed.

A team of Air Force investigators began a probe today amid speculation the twin-engine C123 may have run into a flock of geese.

Witnesses said the plane appeared to be gliding in for a landing just before it smashed nose first into a brush-covered hillside on a ranch near this southwest Idaho community.

"There were three lights blinking and the wheels were down," said irrigation worker Norman Meadows. "It looked like he was going to try and make a landing."

Officials from Idaho's Mountain Home Air Force Base said the 19 aboard were all Air Force personnel. They said the plane was en route to McChord Field, Tacoma, Wash., from its home Pope Air Force Base, N.C.

Identity Withheld
Identity of the victims was withheld.

Sheriff Ray Stephens said some witnesses told him they saw a flock of geese in the area at the time of the crash.

Fire from the wreckage burned some five acres of brush.

A tenant on the Nelson ranch, Claude Smith, said his wife shouted as he was doing his evening milking that a plane had crashed.

"We went right over there but couldn't get up close enough to give any help," he said. "We found a piece of torn newspaper. It was dated today, from Oklahoma City."

Two Fire Calls
An alarm sounded at Box 3111, St. Mary's School, at 10:35 p. m., yesterday, was only for a slight car fire, but the call drew out many units because it was sounded from a school box.

A car fire in the car of Saul Schecter, 88 Roosevelt Avenue, caused some damage to the motor. Units from Central and Cornell stations, and the Wicks, Union, Rapid and Excelson companies responded. Another call for a fire in a car near the Benedictine Hospital was received at 11:16 a. m., today, but it was checked before firemen arrived.

Radel Is Ending Exchanges

Mayor Edwin F. Radel, in a letter dated Oct. 9, to Attorney N. LeVan Haver, said he was ending exchanges of letters pertinent to the departmental trial of Deputy Police Chief Robert F. Murphy, and advised Haver as Murphy's counsel that the police board awaits "a genuine suggestion as to your readiness."

Haver's letters, he held, are "politically inspired." Haver requested for a bill of particulars unsatisfactorily fulfilled, and he asked for a special meeting of the police board to discuss his claim.

Unfair, He Claims
The mayor has taken the stand that such a meeting could have an element of prejudice that would be unfair to Haver's client and the trial in general. The situation delays fixing of a trial date.

Murphy is to be heard on charges of misconduct and neglect of duty mainly as contained in a report by Arthur L. Reuter, who was named months ago as a special state investigating commissioner to probe reported irregularities in the local police department. The probe began after the arrest in July, 1957 of two patrolmen on burglary charges.

Says Bill Lacking
Haver claims that the bill of particulars, as supplied by Corporation Counsel William A. Kelly, lacks dates, and other specific information.

The mayor's letter, released today, said:

To put an end to what I consider a constant and ridiculous exchange of letters I would like to state to you that the police board is and has been receptive to the setting a positive date for the trial of Robert Murphy.

I disapprove, for obvious reasons, your methods of directing these politically inspired letters to your radio and press outlets hours before they are delivered to me.

To this day in all your letters you have failed to propose any such dates acceptable to you.

Then and only then will I, the police board, and the public at large be aware of just how sincere your motives are in behalf of Mr. Murphy and just what portion of your motives are inspired by politics and the coming election in which you are so interested.

Gubernatorial Candidates Take to Personal Attacks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A brace of personal attacks between Averell Harriman and Nelson Rockefeller hung in the rapidly heating political atmosphere today.

"Sham and fraud" said Harriman of fellow-millionaire and family friend Rockefeller.

Lack of courage, suggested Republican Rockefeller of the Democratic governor.

Charges Hurdled
These were the highlights of the New York State campaign Thursday as the governor and his opponent walked, shook hands, patted heads and made speeches in opposite ends of the state.

Harriman—Rockefeller was fraudulent in advocating liberal policies while surrendering to the reactionary forces within his party.

Rockefeller—Harriman did not have enough courage to stop Tammany Hall from taking over the state government.

Harriman toured sections of New York City, where voter registration was underway.

At a convention of the state CIO Council, Harriman reiterated his charge that Kenneth Keating, the GOP senatorial candidate, and Malcolm Wilson, candidate for lieutenant governor, had voting records of reactionaries.

"If my opponent were not a sham and a fraud, he would denounce his associates in the Republican Party," Harriman asserted.

One Chiang Craft Lost Over Ocean
Ministry Charges MIGs Jumped Jets

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Jet fighters of the Chinese Nationalists and Communists battled over the Formosa Strait today. The Nationalists said five Red planes were downed at a cost of one of theirs.

The Nationalist air force said machine-gun fire from its F86 Sabre Jets shot down four MIGs. A Sabre Jet collided with a fifth MIG, sending both crashing into the ocean and killing the Nationalist pilot, a spokesman said.

No Peeping Losses
Peiping radio claimed Communist planes shot down two Nationalist Sabre Jets and damaged a third. It said one Nationalist pilot "has been captured alive." Red losses were not mentioned.

The Nationalists now claim they have shot down 34 MIGs and damaged or possibly destroyed 11 more since the Communists began bombing the Quemoy Islands Aug. 23. In that period the Nationalists say they have lost only the plane in today's collision.

The Defense Ministry said six Sabre Jets were patrolling south-east of Matsu, a Nationalist offshore island 150 miles north of Quemoy, when 20 MIGs jumped them. The Sabre Jets were in the area because MIGs strafed tiny Tungyin Island in the Matsu group Thursday, a spokesman said.

Biggest Since Sept. 24
It was the largest aerial battle since 32 Sabre Jets clashed Sept. 24 with more than 100 MIGs. The Nationalists claimed 14 MIGs shot down in that engagement.

News of the battle climaxed the observance on Formosa of the 47th anniversary of the revolution which overthrew the Manchu Dynasty and led to establishment of the Chinese Republic. Falling on the 10th day of the month, it is known as the "Double 10th" holiday.

President Chiang Kai-shek said in his annual address that the Nationalists had won the first round of the battle of Quemoy. He predicted they would win the "second round" and eventually would recover the mainland from the Chinese Communists.

Cease-Fire Continues
The cease-fire around the Quemoy continued into its fifth day, and the Nationalists moved more supplies into the offshore islands. Both Nationalist and Communist gunners stood ready on either side of the narrow stretch of coastal water separating them but neither fired.

There was still no clear indication whether the Communists intended to renew shelling of the Quemoy when their self-imposed cease-fire ends at midnight Sunday.

Pope's Body Begins Solemn Trip to Rome

ROME (AP)—The body of Pope Pius XII, attired in funeral robes, began the solemn return to Rome today.

Hundreds of thousands of mourners lined the Apian Way to witness a slow, sad procession from Castel Gandolfo, where the pontiff died early Thursday, to his native Rome.

Thousands Along Route
Along the entire 18-mile route from Castel Gandolfo to Rome, thousands of people stood to watch the funeral procession bringing the Pope for the last time to the Rome Basilica of St. John Lateran, his see as bishop of Rome.

There the body of the Pope, in an austere ceremony, was to be given Holy Absolution.

In this ancient city, where he was born March 2, 1858, there was a tremendous traffic jam, and the streets were packed. Italian and papal banners were at half staff.

From the Basilica of St. John Lateran the route of the procession led to St. Peter's in Vatican City where burial will take place probably Monday. The mourning rites continue through Oct. 19.

The motor hearse carrying the pontiff had glass walls, but the coffin was covered by red silk, and the body was not visible.

Some Hushed, Some Weep
Along the route men, women and children stood hushed. Some wept. Priests and nuns said their rosaries as they waited and watched the hearse go by.

A motorcycle escort of Italian police preceded the hearse. Ahead of it were two cars carrying church dignitaries.

List Callanan's $249,326, Low Bid For By-Pass Work

A low bid of $249,326.82 was submitted yesterday by Callanan Road Improvement Company, South Rondout, for widening and resurfacing a 1.4-mile section of Route 9W (East Chester Street by-pass), starting at Kingston's north city line and extending northward. Two bids were received.

Announcement of the bids was made Thursday by John W. Johnson, state superintendent of Public Works, Albany.

The existing 20-foot wide concrete highway will be widened to 24 feet and resurfaced with asphalt concrete. Roadside shoulders will be eight feet wide.

Included in the project will be alterations and additions to existing drainage structures and facilities, erection of guide posts and beam-type guide railing, landscaping and miscellaneous related improvements.

Weather permitting, work is expected to get underway in about a month following a check by state engineers of all bids received. If the low bid is found acceptable after this review, the contract will be officially awarded. The time lapse between receipt of bids and contract award is usually about three weeks.

Lodge Warns of Tests Says Red Blast to Nullify U. S. Offer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States warned today that any Soviet nuclear tests after Oct. 31 would nullify President Eisenhower's offer to withhold further testing for a one-year period.

The warning came from Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge in a major disarmament speech before the U.N.'s 81-nation Political Committee. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin was expected to state the Soviet view during the opening round of debate.

Lodge expressed regret that the Soviet Union had resumed testing nuclear weapons on the eve of the Oct. 31 talks in Geneva on a permanent suspension of tests. He said Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko had thrown doubt on his government's willingness to stop tests.

He referred to Gromyko's statement that the Soviet Union might match Western tests blast for blast.

Lodge said the U.S. offer to suspend tests for one year was made to facilitate the Geneva talks "and it would be regrettable indeed if the Soviet Union took steps which had the opposite effect."

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A prominent speaker was scheduled to address the District Council of Carpenters on "How to Encourage Greater Attendance at Union Meetings." But he forgot to attend.

15,000 in Courtyard

In the crowd were most of the Pope's summer neighbors, residents of the village to which he came annually to escape Rome's heat. Outsiders swelled the crowd, and at one time more than 15,000 were packed in the palace courtyard.

There was some pushing and shouting when the papal guards began to close the gates at 10 p. m.

One woman fainted and a child suffered bruises in the crush.

"He was our pope," some in the crowd cried in protest at the closing of the gates.

Another crowd of 2,000 had gathered in the cobbled square by midnight, seeking admission.

Spellman at Palace

Among those ushered into the palace was Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, who had left his homeward-bound pilgrim ship at the Azores to fly back for the obsequies and the conclave that will elect a new pope.

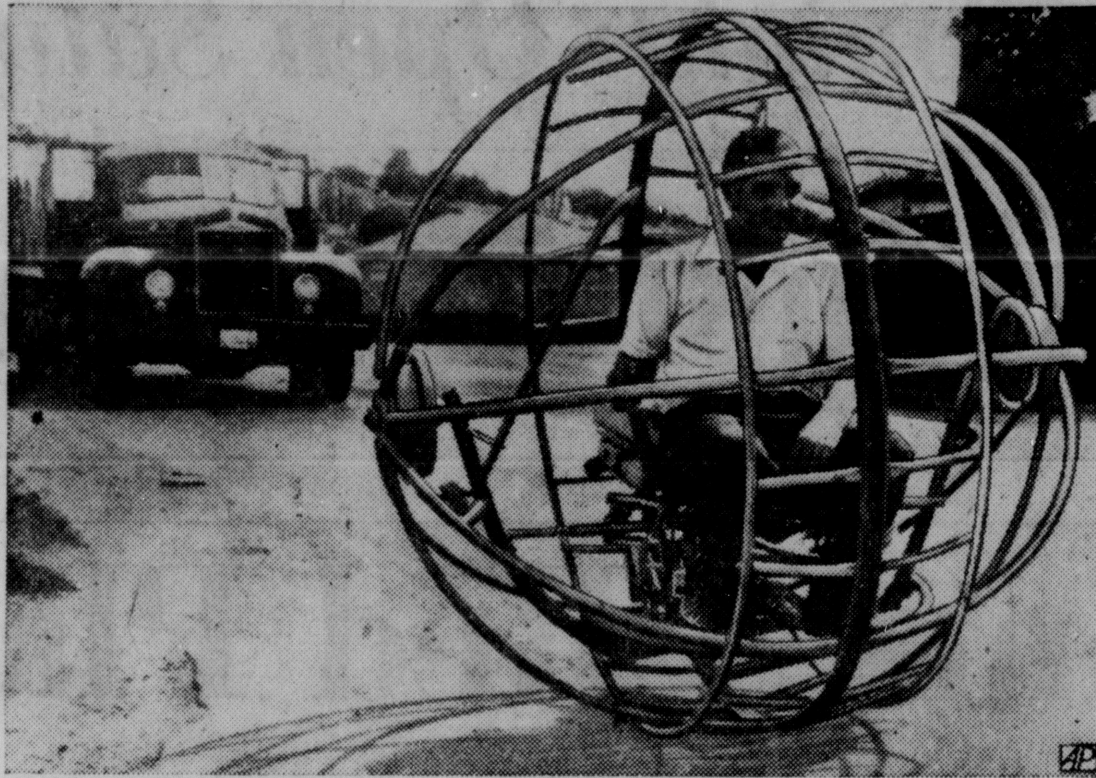

He was led up the marble staircase by Benedetto Cardinal Aloisi Masella, who was elected Thursday by other cardinals as the church's chief executive until a new pope is chosen.

Most of the 55 living cardinals were arranging to be in Rome before the end of the official mourning and for the great election conclave which will meet as soon as possible after Oct. 24, 15 days following the death.

But several of the princes of the church are ill and others will be prevented from coming by the Iron Curtain.

U. S. Jobless Cut 588,000 Last Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unemployment dropped by 588,000 in September, marking what the government called a significant improvement in the job situation.

The joint monthly report of the Commerce and Labor Departments said unemployment declined from 4,699,000 in August to 4,111,000 in September.

This was about twice the usual seasonal decline between August and September.

Employment also dropped, falling from 65,367,000 to 64,629,000 or a decline of 738,000. This is usual as students go back to school at this time of year.

About one million students quit summer jobs to return to classes this year.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Secretary of Labor Mitchell said:

"A sharp pickup among adult men in nonfarm activities was chiefly responsible for reducing the unemployed total to its lowest level for the year thus far. Hiring was especially brisk in automobile plants and steel mills, and among producers of home appliances. In addition, there was the usual expansion in school staffs."

Mrs. L. Roberts, instrumental music teacher, said that you cannot determine a set age when to teach musical instruments. Many children show interest before the fourth grade and tests show they are easily instructed.

Mrs. Nelson spoke on dental hygiene and mentioned the P-TA Council Dental Aid Revolving Fund. This fund provides care for children who would be otherwise unable to afford it.

Mrs. Freida Dinege, school principal, introduced the new officers as follows: Mrs. John Devine, president; Ward Tongue, vice-president; Mrs. Anthony Pagliaro, secretary, and Mrs. Allen Hale, treasurer.

Attend Conference
Mrs. Dinege, Mrs. Devine and Mrs. Pagliaro announced they would attend the Ulster County P-TA conference at the Capri Restaurant, Port Ewen, on October 8.

Mayor Edwin F. Radel, in a brief message issued today invited people of the city, "regardless of their individual faiths" to pay their respects in their own way to Pope Pius XII today and during the time the body reposes in state.

"I invite each and every person in the city to join with me and millions of other men of good will in honoring in mourning the passing of Pope Pius XII."

He asked that each "in a manner commensurate with the rites and rituals of his or her own faith, give sincere thought and meditation to honoring this person, who devoted his entire lifetime to great self sacrifice to promote justice, charity, and peace for all, while fighting Communistic influences with a vehemence whenever and wherever they were evident. The entire world has lost a truly great leader."

Moehle Tells P-TA Conference

Increase in Students Seen Main Educational Problem

John Moehle, supervising principal of the Onteora Central School System in his address to more than 60 Ulster County P-TA Conference delegates, gave as the biggest cause of today's educational problems the tremendous school population growth.

He cited staggering figures in support of this reality; for example, within a five year period, from birth rate alone, excluding industrial expansion, there would be 233 per cent expansion in and around existing communities. In terms of school population, by 1961, instead of the now 22 million youngsters in the elementary schools throughout the nation, there would be 34 million or an increase of 12 million in less than three years. By 1968, a 50-70 per cent increase would affect the high school.

Blames Communication
Moehle said the biggest cause of the "uproar and tumult" against proposals by educators to solve these school problems, stems from the lack of communication in his talk this week at the Capri Restaurant.

"Whereas the P-TA represents an enlightened group, the average Mr. Public does not understand educational problems," Moehle said.

He went on to say the greater community acceptance and tolerance to grapple with and solve some of these problems depended to a great extent on how well educators and P-TA's tell the story.

Moehle recommended the establishment of a better public relations program, perhaps with the hiring, as industry does, a part-time or full time Public Relations Director to handle all the human relationship problems as they arise, this being distinctly marked from publicity program which concerns itself only with communicating information through the various media of press, radio, TV, film.

On the subject of "Why Bond Issues" failed so frequently, Moehle listed several important reasons. His first mention was the hard core familiar in every community who wanted status quo in the face of terrific changes. He said he would ignore this group because they don't want to have their minds changed, nor do they wish to come up with alternate solutions.

The second group of Old-Age Pensioners posed a sympathetic problem as their fixed incomes do not allow them to vote in what they really want for their grandchildren.

Says Figures Frighten Some
The bezzin basement people were described as those who wanted the best without paying; the fads and frills group who would eliminate gyms and shops at the dawn of a space age; a false economy group who would institute temporary crash building programs, ignoring higher maintenance costs and the usual fact that a bit more in initial investment will make the school permanent; the palace group who fail to compare costs between school buildings and other permanent city and county buildings.

Moehle believed that the amounts of bond issues were staggering and frightening in people's minds. He suggested that educators get their amounts down, build and fill, then start over again.

Moehle said budgets were voted down only because people in general did not realize that about 85 per cent of the budget was fixed by law, because of lack of confidence in the professionally trained administrators, especially the Superintendent of Schools, whose position, Moehle said, had been defiled from one of responsibility for instruction leadership to one of managerial skills involving lay

Before printing was invented, the ballad was the people's newspaper. Great heroes were praised in song; King Arthur and Robin Hood first became widely known through the minstrels. Sung to children, the ballads made a sort of oral history lesson. Finally, men began to write down the old rhymed tales and as these were sung or printed, changes crept in until they reached the forms we know today.

MONSEY, N. Y. (AP) — The charred body of a Lederle Laboratories executive was found on the lawn of his estate Thursday. Authorities said he apparently poured gasoline over himself and set himself on fire.

He was Dr. Frank E. Stirn, 46, director of mechanical research and development at the pharmaceutical plant in nearby Pearl River.

At first police believed Stirn had been burned accidentally while filling a power mower, which was nearby.

But investigation showed Stirn had poured the contents of a five-gallon gas can on himself and set fire to his clothing. The tank of the mower had unburned gasoline in it.

Stand, Sit Rest Of Days Is Big Decision for Man

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — By a week from today 32-year-old Harry Blitz must decide whether he wants to spend the rest of his life standing or sitting.

Blitz shocked the seventh annual Kansas Governor's Safety Conference Thursday with the story of how an automobile accident wrecked his life.

It was the evening of Nov. 23, 1957, when his small foreign car crashed into a stalled truck west of Wichita as he was driving to his home at Colwich.

He lay unconscious in a Wichita hospital for 20 days. He suffered severe head and face lacerations, loss of his left eye and loss of sense of smell and taste. His right leg was fractured in 63 places. He suffered a nervous breakdown.

Blitz lost his job as a salesman and went on relief to feed and clothe his wife and nine children. He had been averaging about $9,000 a year before the accident.

An operation is scheduled at a Wichita hospital next week and Blitz hopes it will make it possible for him to resume work.

Blitz spends much of his time in traction to relieve painful muscle pressure on nerves in his legs and pelvis. Doctors think they can stop the pain by fusing his body in a sitting or standing position. Blitz must decide which he prefers.

Makes New Approach

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP)—A new approach to the formidable problem of disposing of radioactive wastes has been started at the Atomic Energy Commission's eastern Idaho testing station west of here.

To illustrate the problem, Dr. Richard F. Post of the University of California's Radiation Laboratory once said that if all present power were supplied by nuclear fission reactors, "we would have to dispose each year of an amount of radioactive fission products equal to that from the explosion of 200,000 atomic bombs."

That makes current fall-out problems from the few nuclear bombs exploded each year seem trivial.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (AP) —Twenty-six cars of a freight train derailed today and blocked all three tracks of the New York Central Railroad just north of here.

Nobody was reported injured. The derailment blocked at least two long distance passenger trains.

The railroad expressed hope that at least one track could be cleared by late afternoon, and meanwhile was trying to arrange for rerouting of the long distance trains.

The 26 cars, scattered about like kindling wood, were part of a 109-car freight bound from Chicago to New York. The accident happened at 10:10 a. m. Cause of the derailment was not known.

Gotham Voters Slow to Sign

NEW YORK (AP)—A three-day registration in New York City for the Nov. 4 election is off to a slow start.

The first-day turnout Thursday was 71,970.

Already on the books were 2,272,868 persons who had signed up under permanent personal registration, which went into effect here last year.

With two days of registration remaining, there now are 2,344,838 potential voters.

The first day's registration was far behind the pace that would lead to a total of 2,800,000 or 3,000,000 which some political party officials had hopefully set as a goal.

Upstate, the general hours in cities and villages of more than 5,000 were from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. today and from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. Saturday. In smaller places, the booths will be open from 1 to 10 p. m. Saturday.

In the first two days of registration Upstate, last week, the turnouts were down in some cities and up in others, compared with 1954, the last gubernatorial year. The overall result appeared about the same as in 1954.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, OCTOBER 10, 1958

POPE PIUS XII

It is not only the Roman Catholics of the world who mourn the passing of Pope Pius. This slender, benign man, the spiritual leader for millions in every part of the globe, also had won the love and respectful admiration of many outside the church. Pius XII will go down in history as one of the world's most dedicated and effective workers for peace in an embattled era.

Eugenio Pacelli was extraordinarily well fitted for the pontificate during a period of turmoil such as the world has rarely seen. Only two years after his ordination as a priest in 1899, he was taken into the papal secretariat of state. He served as first papal secretary of state.

During the years between that time and his ascension to the papal throne, Cardinal Pacelli continued the travels that already had given him familiarity with many parts of the world. His experience stood him in good stead when, in March of 1939, he became the first papal secretary of state since 1667 to be crowned as pope.

The nearly 20 years since Cardinal Pacelli became Pius, the 12th pope to adopt that name since the second century, have been as significantly eventful as any in history. Throughout these troubled decades, Pius XII served unflinchingly in the cause of peace and human dignity.

New York bankers find fault with the Treasury secretary's handling of the national debt. But they've got to remember that the sums he's juggling are a lot more unwieldy than those they toss around.

CAMPAIGN FUNDS

The circumstance that sees a number of wealthy candidates running for important office this year in the United States only points up anew a great problem: how to finance political campaigns to assure the highest standards in government.

Everybody knows that with the use of television in politics and the rising cost of almost every other phase of campaigning, the money needed for a really all-out effort is considerable.

Today the principal sources of big funds are in fact just two—Big Business and Big Labor.

And it goes without saying that if the contributions they make are large enough, they expect a return if the candidate they help is a winner. No matter how honest and independent a man may wish to be and try to be, he may find himself the victim of subtle, almost unconscious pressures when voting on legislation which affects those who aided him.

Consequently the present system is widely recognized as a bad one. The necessary ideal is that we elect to high public office men who feel no special pressures but are guided instead by the general interest of either specific constituency or the nation as a whole.

Since the beneficiaries of good government and able legislators are the people themselves, it would seem fair and fitting that they, taken in the broad, shoulder the burden of financing campaigns.

There is this season an admirable voluntary effort under way to achieve that objective, the American Heritage Foundation's program to pay for campaigns through wide solicitation of dollar contributions from millions of American citizens.

But it has not been shown yet that the general response will be sufficient to lick the problem. Reports from around the country as the campaigning goes into usually crucial October are that most candidates drawing heavy funds are getting them from the customary sources.

The "broad base" system of small contributions deserves a full trial. But if it should bring inadequate results, Americans undoubtedly will have to begin thinking seriously again of the idea that the federal government use taxpayers' money to finance political campaigns at all levels.

The alternative may be more and more

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
NO GUIDE TO THE PERPLEXED

Perhaps the reason that Bernard Baruch, in his 89th year, is so much wiser than most men is not that he is more experienced but that he has read more history and that his education was classical. He still sometimes reads Latin and Greek for his amusement and edification.

The man who assumes that history began when he was born will, of course, never learn that there has been a long chain of events which composed his environment, both natural and historical. Without a profound knowledge of history, it is hardly possible to grasp what is going on at this moment, certainly not what is occurring in so many different parts of the world.

Every day, one hears opinions about war and peace and what should be a good line of defense for the United States, although history teaches that there is no good line of defense and that a nation makes its stand when it has a possibility of winning and does not wait until all the advantages have accrued to its enemies. This we did in 1945 when we permitted Soviet Russia to win our war with Nazi Germany and again in 1948 when we permitted Soviet Russia to gather all the advantages of our war with Japan in which the Russians did not participate at all in any realistic way.

Our current difficulties stem from these two errors of judgment, one of which was the result of an Administration seeking to please the voters, particularly the mammas who wanted their sons home as soon as possible, and the other was due to extraordinary bad judgment and an utter disregard of historical factors. A decade later, the errors stand out clearly.

Now we are capable of making another error with regard to how to resist the Soviet Universal State because politicians are more concerned with the cowardice of high standard of living people who refuse to recognize the essential historic fact that it is usual for low standard of living peoples to seek to grasp the benefits from high standard of living peoples if they can. And it is not unusual for high standard of living peoples to become soft and unpatriotic and self-centered and to seek to preserve their private fortunes at any cost. Usually, they lose their private fortunes by war or revolution.

In this Congressional campaign, which is so crucial historically, there are practically no arguments, debates or discussions. This is a rare moment in our history. The nation is suffering because of an inflation which is producing a debased currency. A flight of capital is occurring which started as a form of income tax evasion and has developed into an investment in industries abroad which compete with ours to our detriment. Congressional investigations have disclosed that many labor unions which are in control of vital national industries and services have fallen into the hands of corrupt and abusive men who have used them for national harm.

These are but a few questions that should be but are not discussed in this canvass to elect a new Congress. The career of Jimmy Hoffa may have disgusted some, but it has not stirred the nation to indignation. It is true that William Knowland in California and Barry Goldwater in Arizona have raised some of these issues but most of the candidates are talking about nothing, just uttering sound, and what is more startling is that neither the people nor the press seem to care much that this election, at a time of an historical crisis that can lead to war, is a humbling and fumbling affair about nothing that makes any sense. Are we stupid or have we lost our sense of country?

It is a question that sooner or later will need to be answered in the blood of our sons. For if we have lost our sense of country, our feel for the country, then the enemy will take full advantage of our weakness, as enemies always do to weak nations. If it is more important to protect a private fortune than it is national dignity, then we may find ourselves without dignity and without fortunes.

And this election campaign, thus far, would indicate that the reason candidates avoid taking stands on issues is because the people do not take a stand. The candidates reflect the times which is an era of laissez faire, of anything goes. (Copyright, 1958, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Intravenous Treatment
Affords Versatile Uses
BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

There are occasions when it is advisable to give patients injections directly into the blood stream through the veins (intravenous) rather than by feeding drugs or other substances, or by muscular injections.

There are two principal reasons why this is done: either because quick action is desired or because the substances, due to their nature, cannot be mouth-fed or injected intramuscularly. Some diseases can be treated best by intravenous injections. There are, for example, a number of chemical agents which are poorly absorbed or irritating if they are introduced into the body in any other way. In spite of this fact it is my impression that intravenous treatment is not as often necessary today as it was in the past.

Injection directly into the veins has increased so far as the use of other substances is concerned. Perhaps the most dramatic of these is the increased use of blood transfusion. Of course, those who have lost a great deal of blood may have their lives saved by receiving transfusions of blood obtained from other persons. Today blood transfusions are used more frequently during and following many operations and is one of the measures responsible for the increased safety of surgery.

In addition to blood, fluids and nutritious substances are given intravenously with some frequency. For example, for people who have lost a great deal of blood and for whom blood transfusion is not immediately possible, the fluid loss can be quickly made up by injecting water to which salts have been added. Dextrose solutions (sugar), as well as salts are often used in this manner. This obviously is a quick source of providing energy.

There have been some studies, particularly in recent years, on preparing and injecting food proteins directly into the blood stream through a vein. This has been helpful for people who have had extremely poor nutrition for long periods of time and are unable to eat or digest food in the usual manner. It can also be used for some who are unable to eat adequate quantities because of interfering operations or diseases.

At least one case is on record where a patient was kept alive for eight weeks without any food taken by mouth. Such a protein preparation was injected intravenously, together with sugar and salt solutions to supply other types of energy and fluid.

Intravenous treatment has an important place in medicine. It can be used to give substances which cannot be absorbed into the body in any other way and is thus of great importance in many forms of treatment.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Eisenhower administration now finds itself caught in the act of speaking with several tongues on right-to-work legislation.

In a letter to California gubernatorial candidate William F. Knowland, President Eisenhower declares:

"I have never expressed myself one way or the other on whether any state should exercise this jurisdiction (over right-to-work) feeling, as I do, that this should be determined by the citizens of each state.

"Any statement indicating or implying that I have done so is a misrepresentation of the facts."

It didn't take labor experts much digging to discover that in 1952, when presidential candidate Eisenhower addressed the American Federation of Labor convention, he declared, "America wants no union-busting laws and neither do I."

UNION LABOR LEADERS now brand all right-to-work laws as "union-busting" legislation.

Also, in President Eisenhower's 1954 Labor message to Congress, he declared that:

"Employees engaged in construction, maritime and amusement industries have unique problems because their employment is casual, temporary, or intermittent."

"I therefore recommend that in these industries the employer and the union be permitted to make a union shop contract under which an employee within seven days after the beginning of his employment shall become a member of the union."

This is, of course, a limited recommendation applying to only three crafts. But it is obvious to all labor relations experts that any kind of a union shop is not consistent with the open shop principle which is the basis of all right-to-work legislation.

But for a further obfuscation of the issue, there is a statement from the President's press conference of April 18, 1957. The President was asked what he thought of federal right-to-work legislation. He answered:

"WELL, I WANT TO SEE the bill, and I would want to consult with my secretary of labor and a number of others before I state a positive view. What has been happening is this: Under federal laws that exist (the Taft-Hartley act) certain states are allowed—they are not prevented from passing right-to-work laws; and we have merely said, 'Please, Mr. State, let's look at this thing very carefully and let's not get a confused thing operating within your state.'"

The President's letter taking a neutral position on the red-hot right-to-work referendum in California puts no wind in the political sails of Candidate Knowland, who supports it. His opponent, State Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown, opposes it.

The President's statement must also be compared with what other Republican leaders are saying on the issue.

GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn was recently asked: "Why doesn't the GOP come out for right-to-work?"

"I BELIEVE IN STATE'S rights," Alcorn replied. I come from a state (Connecticut) which has had that up and has decided that it didn't want a right-to-work law. . . .

"The rank and file of organized labor is now thinking our way," Alcorn continued. "I believe as a matter of practical politics that aggressive advocacy of right-to-work legislation would drive the rank and file of the labor movement back into the hands of the labor leaders."

Secretary of Labor James P.

Mitchell has been even more forthright in his opposition.

"In terms of federal right-to-work legislation," the secretary said on a Labor Day "Meet the Press" appearance, "I am opposed to it. If I were voting in the state of California, I would vote against right-to-work legislation."

Ethical Teachings of Pius Viewed as Acceptable to All

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—A great man—perhaps one of the greatest of the last hundred years—has died in Rome. But his works, his utterances, his preachings, not merely of the gospel but on the ethics of mankind, will live on for generations.

For Pope Pius XII was more than the head of a powerful church in the world. He was an inspiring leader of men, and much of what he said could be accepted as sound logic, irrespective of sectarian beliefs.

The late Pope made so many remarkable addresses that the books which contain them will be read and re-read for pertinent quotations concerning affairs of state, including both internal and external policies.

For many years this correspondent has studied the papal utterances, and has frequently quoted from them the doctrines of moral force that could influence governments as well as world peace.

Business Message Recalled
Not only on international but on internal affairs, His Holiness has been incisive in his comments. An address on the Christian aspect in business, which he made to a group of businessmen in Rome on April 14, 1956, particularly comes to mind. It applies as much to controversies of the day in this country as it does in many other democracies of the world. He said:

"Your labors make it clear once again how much can be accomplished in the field of production by private initiative properly understood and reasonably free from interference. This private initiative contributes to the wealth of the community, alleviates, as well, the burden of human toll, raises the costs of production and develops the habit of saving."

"For this reason the Church has never ceased and will not cease to react unfavorably to the attempts which have been made in certain countries to attribute to the state powers and duties which it does not possess. The Church, after the example of her divine founder, gives to Caesar all that is Caesar's; she could not give more without betraying her mission and the mandate entrusted to her by Christ."

"Wherefore, just as the Church does not hesitate to raise her voice in protest when the civil power tries to arrogate to itself a monopoly of the instruction and education of the young, so in like manner she opposes, on the basis of moral principles, every one who would attribute to the state excessive control over the economic life of its citizens."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

LOS ANGELES, October 9 —

The scandalous spectacle of the chief justice of the United States collecting a pension of $16,000 a year on top of his big salary will serve a decent purpose if it brings into public knowledge some dormant facts about the political pension system. The politicians have really latched on.

Actually this is a whole tangle of systems, all vaguely alike but few of them identical. They vary in impudence and rapacity according to the presence of many factors.

In California, the gall of the politicians was equal to the apathetic stupidity of an electorate composed largely of "war effort" immigrants from other states. The bulk of them were attracted by fantastic wages that the unions extorted from the Roosevelt regime. In the post-war slump they became a "welfare" population and by their example degraded many other Americans in California who were by nature superior. The political machines—one of which belonged to Warren almost in the sense that a man can own property, thus were able to put over pension rackets for politicians of which Warren's own pension, though flagrant, is not the worst.

A popular superstition is firmly established now that politicians deserve pensions equal to or greater than the pensions which tax-producing citizens are demanding more and more insistently from private industry. The paltry dole provided by "social security" is despised, except by a class of broken old toilers who come to the end of their employability with little or no savings and puny earning power. Warren's pension is not in the brackets which the majority of workers regard as an old-age allowance. It is a lavish income. Very few earners and taxpayers of California or any other state ever achieve an income equal to two-thirds of Warren's pension.

Business firms of all kinds must maintain standards of efficiency for employees. Employees must meet them. Governments have no such standards. It is not an offense against general truth to say that in all his 39 years at the trough, Warren has never had to meet a standard of efficiency and production. He never was "hired." He was "elected" or "selected" by a political process that has no qualifications except popularity and "reputation," which latter most often is false. One has only to conjure the absurd spectacle of candidates for governor sitting in a room and taking an examination for the job to understand what a farce the qualifications for the office are. An idiot could qualify legally. Yet, any governor who gets elected is automatically consecrated "chief executive," though he be a disgusting bum and, in California, qualifies for a

Not only did these raises abrogate his solemn agreement with the state, but the nasty fiction that either of them was necessary to meet a raise in the cost of living of a man drawing $35,500 bears on Warren's character, honor and citizenship.

36,500 Back On GM Jobs

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors today counted 36,500 of its 275,000 United Auto Workers back on the job in 16 of its 126 plants.

The total marked continued progress in the efforts of the company and the UAW to settle local grievances in the wake of a 12-hour company-wide strike last week.

But still it was not enough for GM, biggest of the car makers, to consider itself back in the 1959 model production race with Ford and Chrysler.

When GM saw its vast industrial empire paralyzed by local disputes in spite of a national contract agreement with the UAW, GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton said he hoped for full-speed production by mid-September.

GM, virtually shut down for more than a week, was not alone in its labor troubles.

Chrysler Corp. reported 10,800 workers idle at six plants. Most of Chrysler's strikes grew out of dissatisfaction that their portion of a new contract still is unsettled.

Chrysler went to court Thursday and got a temporary injunction against picketing "at its stamping plant" in Twinsburg, Ohio. The strike of about 30 workers over the firing of a crane operator started Sunday night and halted production for three days. Production resumed when the pickets left.

GM said it expected most of its 25,000 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers to return to their jobs at six GM plants today. The IUE, which struck last week at the same hour as the UAW, came to terms with GM on a new contract Wednesday night.

Salvation Army Cadet Congress to Conclude Monday

A territorial Corps Cadet Congress is being held by the Salvation Army in New York City today through Monday for young people between the ages of 13 and 30 who are receiving Bible lessons and leadership training.

Sr. Capt. Foster J. Meitrott, officer in charge of the local Salvation Army outlined the aims of the program as follows:

1) To develop a clearer understanding and appreciation of the significance and value of Corps Cadetship for the experience of everyday living. 2) To develop a deeper appreciation of the heritage of Salvationism which has come down from the past. 3) To endeavor to clear up any misunderstanding about the faith of a Salvationist and to encourage a changing of negative concepts of religion to more positive ones.

4) To develop an appreciation of what victorious Christian living means to the family, the community, the nation and the world. 5) To endeavor to lead Corps Cadets and their leaders to the level of full surrender to the purpose of God's will for their lives, and to present the challenge of Salvation Army officership and encourage young people to be receptive to the call of God.

Speaker for the sessions is Commissioner Herbert Lord, an outstanding international leader of the Salvation Army.

A group including Joyce Sackles, Martha Nagle, Catherine Crispell, Helen Crispell, Susan Sackles, Nancy Burke, Foster Meitrott and Capt. Meitrott will attend the sessions.

Chest Reaches Half-Way Mark

Kingston area's Red Feather campaign reached its half-way point today.

Reported at the third report meeting at noon was $65,707, or 51.7 per cent of the $128,651 goal.

General Campaign Chairman Richard M. Kalish, presiding at the dutch-treat luncheon at the Governor Clinton Hotel, called upon all workers to intensify their efforts to wrap up the campaign next Wednesday, the scheduled final report day.

No Time Extension

"There will be no extension of time," Kalish said, adding that he is confident the goal will be attained "if everyone does his job."

It was reported that acceptance of in-plant employee giving plans has been gratifying, and announcement of further plaque award winners is expected shortly. Already announced as having won the award are employees of Smith Mail Advertising Service, Kingston Laundry and Kingston Hospital.

On Thursday, General Chairman Kalish addressed the noon luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club, stressing the importance of community-wide participation in this once-a-year campaign for 10 separate human service agencies.

Kalish noted that impetus for formation of the Community Chest came in 1954 from the three service clubs—Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary—and the Kingston Area Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The Community Chest Red Feather drive combines the annual appeals of these agencies: Association for the Help of Retarded Children, Boys Club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Jewish Community Center, Salvation Army, USO, Volunteers of America, YMCA and YWCA.

On the occasion of their 30th anniversary of service with Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., two Kingston area men were honored Thursday at ceremonies in the utility's general office in Poughkeepsie.

They are: LeRoy A. Webber of Hurley, gas engineer and LeRoy A. Constant of 84 Main Street, Rosendale, area commercial representative.

Cited for Career

Both were cited for their long company career and received a service emblem from Ernest R. Acker, company president.

Webber joined Central Hudson on September 28, 1928. He served with the utility's line forces as a groundman, serviceman, and was advanced to commercial representative in 1943. He was promoted to commercial and industrial sales representative in 1950 and was named district gas engineer in October 1951.

He is a past president and currently serves as a director of Hurley Lions Club, and is a trustee of the Hurley School. He is also a member of the Central Hudson Employees Quarter Century Club.

Constant joined Central Hudson on September 24, 1928 in Kingston. He was employed as a serviceman from June 1932 through May 1942 when he entered on a leave of absence to do defense work with the Federal Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company in Kearney, N. J.

Promoted in 1946

The utility veteran returned to Central Hudson in September 1945 as a serviceman and was appointed commercial representative in the Rosendale area in September 1946.

Before joining Central Hudson he was associated with the former Queensboro Gas and Electric Company, New York City.

Constant is treasurer of the Rosendale Reformed Church and a member of Central Hudson Employees Quarter Century Club.

Specifications For Water Main Requested by 19

Specifications for installation of an auxiliary water main supplying Glasco Water District, estimated to cost approximately $25,000, were requested by 19 prospective bidders, Saugerties Village Clerk Ernest Ackert said today. Bids will be opened at a special meeting of the village board Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the trustee rooms.

Specifications by Morrell Vrooman, consulting engineers of Gloversville call for installation of 4,167 feet of 10-inch water main, and replacement of pavement, sidewalk or landscaping damaged during the work. Other items included will be four hydrants, four cross overs and controls.

The new line will be routed under East Bridge Street to Mill and Burt Streets, and along Route 9W connecting with the Glasco water system at Overbaugh Street.

The new installation will be designed to supplement 3,000 feet of six-inch line which now connects the Saugerties water system to Glasco Water District lines.

The new line will be engineered in such a way as to serve the water district with either main in the event one is out of order.

At a special emergency meeting of both town and village officials, it was brought out that the six-inch main, now the connecting link between the two systems, has been slowing down the flow of water into the Glasco system causing a low pressure condition. The problem of low pressure was first made public when Glasco water commissioners placed restrictions on excessive use of water in the district last summer.

The cost of installation will be paid by using the village water board's surplus each year. No raise in village water rents is anticipated.

In addition to their activities in the young girls' club, both are active members of Saugerties Youth Council. Mrs. Eckert is the council treasurer.

The presentation will be made at the dance by Mayor George P. Holmes.

Music for dancing by the Four Hearts will be played from 7:30 to 11:30 p. m.

The group also honors deserving adults who dedicate their time, money and materials on behalf of the young people.

The Saugerties Girls' Club was organized November 4, 1957 with 30 girl members.

WENDELL, N.C. (AP) — Mrs. Brodley Roberts frowned when the snake fell from the chandelier at dinner time. Another one of her son's toys! Only it wasn't. Amid screams from Mrs. Roberts and her guest, son Keith safely snared the eight-inch copperhead, which apparently had chosen the chandelier as a retreat from cold weather.

had spoken in support of a liberal labor program on a recent television show.

"If my opponent is not a sham and a fraud, why won't he denounce Knowland (Sen. William Knowland of California), who has come out publicly in support of right-to-work laws? . . . Why won't he take issue with President Eisenhower, who says he is neutral on the question? . . ."

Points to Tammany

Rockefeller himself has said he is against the so-called "right-to-work" laws, which would forbid labor contracts requiring employees to belong to a union. Organized labor is opposed to the laws.

Rockefeller's attack on Harriman was made at a rally in Rochester, which capped a three-day swing that took him from Rochester to the Finger Lakes, through the Southern Tier and back to Rochester.

He accused Harriman of "abject surrender" to Tammany dictation in running the government and at the Democratic State Convention at Buffalo last August.

Said Rockefeller: "My opponent failed either to realize the nature of this takeover or, if he knew what was happening, he didn't have the courage to stop it."

Won't Take Dictation

"Nobody—but nobody—will dictate my policies or appointments," he declared.

The governor made a strong pitch for the Negro vote in Harlem Thursday night. He was accompanied by Adam Clayton Powell Jr., a powerful Harlem leader and controversial political figure who recently made peace with the Democratic organization.

At three street-corner rallies, Harriman denounced Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas and supported integration on moral grounds.

Harriman said New York State had to take the lead in the civil rights fight. "Only you can take your vote away in New York," he said in urging his listeners to register.

Greatest, Says Powell

Powell, who had been denied the party's endorsement for renomination to Congress, termed Harriman "the greatest governor of the greatest state in the greatest nation."

While Harriman, Rockefeller and Adams received generally warm receptions in their tours, David Sive, a Pearl River lawyer running for Congress on the Democratic ticket, ran into a frosty reception at exclusive Tuxedo Park in Orange County.

Turned Away

Sive was turned away at the gates to the incorporate village, a residential area long famous for its wealth. One of its residents is Rep. Katharine St. George, the 28th District incumbent and Sive's Republican opponent.

Village police said Sive was barred because no one was expecting him and the village board had not given him written permission to enter without a definite place to go.

Sive had a door-to-door campaign in mind. He said he was

Chambers Adult Class to Offer Painting, Sewing

Reginald D. Russell, principal of Chambers School, town of Ulster, today announced that adult education courses in oil painting and sewing will be offered at the school Monday at 7:30 p. m., effective next week.

The oil painting class will be taught by Albert Shults of Kingston, and sewing instruction will be provided by Mrs. Vernon Goetchius of Hurley.

Russell said an adult course in driver education also will be offered if there are sufficient registrants within the next week.

An advance course for Ulster County magistrates also will be offered early in November and will be conducted by Harold E. Macholdt, a former justice of the peace in the Town of Ulster.

A similar course was held for the magistrates two years ago and its popularity prompted this second course, Russell said.

The registration for all adult courses will be continued next week and then classes will be closed.

Retailing Careers Recognition Is Suggested by CC

Recognition of "Careers in Retailing Week" was suggested today by the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce. Next week, October 12 to 18, has been set aside by the National Retail Merchant's Association to focus attention on the importance of retailing as a lifetime career.

Edwin L. Davey, manager of the local J. J. Newberry Co. store and Loryne B. Connick, head of the Business Department of the Kingston High School, are cooperating to recognize careers in Retailing Week. Next Wednesday the students in the distributive education classes will spend all morning in that store. They will view retail training films, hear the story of career job opportunities in modern retailing business, tour the store witnessing the various departments and meet the personnel.

The Chamber of Commerce suggests that more stores participate and acquaint the public with the importance of retailing to the community, both from the standpoint of job opportunities and the substantial part contributed tax-wise and the economic support rendered.

Some Plans Are Given for 1959 Fete in State

NEW YORK (AP)—Some of next summer's plans to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the discoveries of the Hudson River and Lake Champlain were announced today.

City, county, state and federal agencies are joining hands in the arrangements. They will be aided by business and civic groups.

In New York City alone, a move is afoot to raise two million dollars for events honoring Henry Hudson's discovery of the Hudson River in 1609.

Committees have been organized in 62 counties to make plans for the celebration, which also will mark the anniversary of Lake Champlain's discovery by Samuel de Champlain in 1609.

Reports on organization work were given today at a meeting of the Temporary State Commission on Historic Occasions, headed by Sen. Ernest I. Hatfield (R-Poughkeepsie). The commission was created by the Legislature last April and organized in July.

Robert W. Watt, vice chairman of New York City's Hudson celebration, said 200 business and civic leaders plan to raise two million in private funds for the event.

He said it would be "second only to New York's World Fair in scope," with showman Billy Rose engaged to organize outdoor pageants which will "turn all of New York City into a stage for three solid months."

The observance here was tentatively scheduled for the period from mid-June to mid-September.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Solid evidence that better times are returning is offered today by the metal trades.

Producers of steel, copper, aluminum, lead and zinc, all say demand is on the upswing. This has enabled all of them to raise prices since June. Lead, zinc and copper have gone up again just this week and producers and smelters say customers haven't balked at the higher costs.

Steel, copper and aluminum producers are stepping up output, lengthening work weeks or reactivating idle facilities to meet the new demand.

Lead and zinc producers are happily disposing of some of the big stocks of these metals above ground. Domestic producers have been helped some by outside circumstances as well as by improving demand here.

Import Check Helps
Lead and zinc producers have got a big assist from the imposition Oct. 1 by the United States of import quotas on the metals.

Steel output is now back to 71 per cent of capacity, the highest rate since last November. At the bottom of the recession it had slipped below 50 per cent.

Steelmen says orders are coming in at a satisfactory pace. And they look for even more as soon as the last of the local auto strikes are cleared up. They say auto makers have been frugal in their buying of metals, but full scale production of 1959 models should make them more liberal in coming weeks.

Public Projects Take Up Slack
Increasing construction outlays have been a big help to the metals trade. Public projects have taken up the slack caused by a dip in factory building.

Appliance makers and farm equipment makers are also better customers of the metals industry now.

Zinc producers report that both galvanizers and die casters are taking more of the metal. The lead producers are counting on more auto production to call for more batteries.

Increasing demand for aluminum by several industries has led both the Aluminum Co. of America and Reynolds Metals to step up output.

Metals have a long road to travel yet to be back to last year's level. But all of today's news is good because the metal industries are so basic to the American economy. If consumers continue to increase their spending as expected, the news will get still better.

Rocket to Moon May Be on Way By Columbus Day

By FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Columbus Day, the 466th anniversary of the discovery of America, may find American scientists probing toward a new world in space.

Although there has been no official announcement, the Air Force reportedly is ready to make another try at hurling an unmanned space satellite to the vicinity of the moon—possibly before dawn Saturday.

Would Be Well on Way

Thus, if all goes well, man's first device to explore the moon area would be well on its way on Columbus Day, Sunday.

This is so because a rocket flight to the moon—some 221,000 miles away at this particular time—would take a little over 2½ days.

The first moon probe attempt by the Air Force failed Aug. 17. The rocket exploded after 77 seconds of flight.

The four days starting Saturday are the best in October for trying a moon shot. During this period the moon is closest to the earth. The shot will be fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

There is no plan actually to strike the moon with the 85-pound lunar probe mounted in the nose of an 83-foot, three-stage rocket.

Included in the payload are 25 pounds of instruments—notably a television-type scanning device designed to get rough pictures of the side of the moon never before seen from the earth. Other instruments are intended for counting meteorites and for determining whether the moon has a magnetic field. And the probe is equipped with radio transmitters for sending information back to earth.

Lunar probe rocketeers have cautioned that complete success would hinge on perfect functioning of some 300,000 parts of the payload and its launching rocket.

The rocket would have to reach speeds up to 24,000 miles an hour to escape the earth's gravitational pull. In this connection, the rocketeers say the venture would be considered a partial success if the rocket was able to break away from the earth's gravity.

Caution Is Cue to Choosing The Best Investment Club

BY FAYE HENLE

Anyone inviting you to join an investment club?

Coast to coast, upwards of 8,000 investment clubs with an aggregate membership of close to 121,000 are in business.

They comprise all sorts of individuals—professional men and women, office workers, housewives—all of them seeking to put their savings to work buying securities.

Investment clubs are a relatively new phenomenon on the financial horizon. A majority of them are less than five years old.

By joining one of these groups you can learn a little something about this business of buying stocks and bonds, about how companies raise money and manage their corporate affairs. You may also get to know your coworkers or neighbors are handling their dollars.

Just how much you will learn and how much benefit you'll derive dollars-and-cents-wise will depend upon a number of things.

It will depend upon how much sound information the members of your group have. It will depend upon how much time you, as an individual, devote to studying. Your success will also be guided by the astuteness of the professional handling your club's investments.

You don't have to be rich to join or start an investment club. Members most often contribute $10 monthly toward their participation.

You can get the mechanical details of starting a club by writing to the National Association of Investment Clubs, a nonprofit organization, at 2224 National Bank Building, Detroit 25, Mich.

What you need is to operate with caution—plenty of it.

If you are thinking of forming a new group—or joining an established club—make sure your organization is operating in conformity with the securities rules in your state. Some investment clubs are partnerships, others have to be incorporated. Questions arise as to the tax status of these clubs under federal, state and local rulings.

Don't join or start an investment club until you are certain—a lawyer should be consulted—that the organization complies with all the required regulations, both federal and state.

Don't join or start an investment club and expect to get rich quick.

POLITICAL MEDICINE CHEST

"The power to tax is the power to destroy."
Look at our railroads. Rail service is being wiped out in scores of communities. Two great railroads say they must shortly discontinue commuter service to our largest city—New York. Other factors reduce their revenue, but excessive taxes increase their costs to the breaking point. So what? Will it be Government operation of what rail service remains? More Socialism?

Graduated personal income taxes are destroying the ability of thrifty people to provide for old age and retirement. Millions are reduced to dependence on a Government hand-out or a company pension.

Today's income taxes create insecurity, for the Government does not guarantee Social Security payments, nor that they will not be eaten away by inflation, as is being done right now.

Income that might be tucked away in a family nestegg is siphoned off by the bureaucrats in Government, Federal, State and local.

Everybody knows that government money is not spent as carefully as private money. A board of vampires and vultures gather around every government treasury.

As the Romans said 2,000 years ago, "Where the meat hangs, there the wolves gather."

Even if you pay no personal income tax, you still pay, for corporation income taxes of 52% are paid by every one in higher prices.

The medicine chest for this disease is the ballot box that will elect, or defeat, every candidate this fall.

Brooklyn Man Held In Mortician's Death

NEW YORK (AP) — Carmine Panariello has been held in $100,000 bail as a material witness in the slaying of John (The Mortician) Roilotto.

Panariello, 56, was a few feet from Roilotto when the latter was shot down Sept. 7 as he left a Brooklyn restaurant. Police believe the victim was trying to muscle into dope and gambling rackets controlled by powerful racketeers.

Panariello, of Brooklyn, had been sought as a material witness. He surrendered to police last Wednesday, but police kept his custody a secret until Thursday when he was taken into court.

Detective Lt. Victor Kaufman told Kings County Judge Samuel Leibowitz: "He surrendered because he is afraid for his life. He has been sleeping in the subway. He has been changing his clothes in railroad terminals. . . . He's afraid to go any place where he is known."

Three of four other material witnesses, all reported to have been at the slaying scene, are free in $7,500 bail. The fourth witness is free in $5,000 bail.

Bystanders Injured

NEW YORK (AP) — A youth and a housewife, innocent bystanders, were injured Thursday night during a Harlem gang fight.

Joseph Jenkins, 19, was stabbed in the back. His condition was listed today as fair. Mrs. Henrietta Turnipseed, 35, was shot in the left cheek by a pellet, apparently fired from an air rifle. Both are Negro.

The fight was between the Enchanters and Assassins, Negro gangs. About 25 youths were taken into custody for questioning.

Jacques Cartier reached the Indian village of Stadacona, now Quebec, in 1935.

Ave Praises State Plan for Handicapped

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman said today that New York State has "the most extensive medical and social service program anywhere in the nation for vocational rehabilitation of handicapped persons."

He said this has been achieved "through a combination of private and public agencies at both the state and local level."

Harriman made the claim in a speech prepared for the annual luncheon meeting of the Governor's Committee on "Employ the Physically Handicapped."

The governor, who has proclaimed this week as "Employ the Physically Handicapped Week," reviewed what has been accomplished in that field and what must still be done.

"The fullest employment of the physically handicapped," he said, "is essential, not only for the benefit of the individual, but for the fullest use of all our human resources in the cold war."

THE LOST GOVERNMENT

Chapter I

"The System"

What Has Republican Control of Ulster County for a Half Century Accomplished for the People?

Here Are the Answers to This Mis-rule by a Dictatorial Minority:

1. Republican Supervisors and County Officials have not dared to vote or voice their opinions for those things in which they honestly believe.
2. A complete breakdown in the morale of the Law Enforcement agencies of the City of Kingston and the County of Ulster.
3. National disgrace because of revelations of crime and misconduct within our County.
4. Appointment of a REPUBLICAN Senator as a special prosecutor of kickbacks.
5. Appointment of an extraordinary term of Supreme Court to supersede the ordinary legal processes in this county.
6. A realization that Ulster County has been almost ruined by a handful of dictatorial, self-centered Republicans who ruled their party and its elected representatives with an iron hand.

What Can the Citizens Do About This???

You can only recover the Lost Government by voting. But you cannot vote unless you are registered.

Made Way Easy for Visits

Over 10 Million Were Received by Pius XII

By FRANK BRUTTO
VATICAN CITY (AP) — Medieval pomp and pageantry surrounded Pius XII in the most impressive ceremonies of the Roman Catholic Church.

Yet no other pope ever received so many people as simply as he did.

His audience, like those of his predecessor, Pius XI, were "a window on the world." No pontiff had ever looked so keenly from that window as did Pius XII.

Pius XII established many records. But the one for which millions will remember him in the immediate years to come is this:

Received All Classes

He met more people than any other pontiff. The way was made easy for anyone who wished to see him.

He received more than 10 million persons — rulers and masses, rich and poor. There were private audiences with pageantry, as when he received Princess Elizabeth, who was to become England's queen. There were less formal, and informal special audiences, and great general audiences at which humble thousands plucked at his sleeve or tried to touch his robes with rosary beads and crosses.

He received thousands of GIs after Rome's liberation. He received U. S. senators and congressmen during those months and urged them to devote themselves to aiding people of less fortunate nations.

Twice weekly during the 1950

Holy Year, general audiences were held in St. Peter's Basilica. Sometimes even the world's biggest church could not hold all the pilgrims.

In Touch With All

His uncommon touch with the common man was evident.

"Excuse me if I made you wait a little," he said one day.

The people, hearing this use of the familiar first person singular instead of the formal "we," were astonished and silent. A moment later, Pius established easy communication and the play of answers and questions was under way.

During the Holy Year, Pius XII gave some 1,500 hours to more than 6,000 audiences of all kinds. He spoke on subjects that ranged from philosophy to smoking. "You are surprised that we should receive you," he told a tobacco workers' congress. "But why not? You represent a large section of workers. That is reason enough."

Next: Communism and the search for peace.

Powers Leaves Stockade

RIBEMONT, France (AP) — Wayne Powers was back from a U. S. Army stockade today with the French woman who hid him during 14 years as a deserter and gave him four children.

The couple is expected to be married soon, although Powers made no announcement after his release Thursday. He said earlier he planned to wed Yvette Bebeuse. Powers, 37, of Chillicothe, Mo., was arrested last March in the tiny village of Mont d'Origny when French police finally came across him. He was court-martialed and sentenced to 10 years in prison but this was reduced to six months.

No Monuments: Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Pius XII named the Holy See as his sole beneficiary and asked in his last will and testament that no monuments to him be erected. The will, dated May 15, 1956, was published today in the Vatican newspaper, L'Osservatore Romano.

Cops Protect Driver After Car Kills Child

NEW YORK (AP) — A car went out of control on a Brooklyn sidewalk Thursday, killing a child and injuring three other persons. Police had to protect the driver from an angry throng of pedestrians.

The car, driven by Morris Berman, 68, was headed for a curbside parking place when it mounted the sidewalk, pinning Pauline Styne, 11, and her friend, Harriet Dale, 12, against a clothing store window.

Pauline was killed. Harriet was injured seriously.

The car reversed, then shot forward again—this time smashing into a supermarket store front and hitting Mrs. Rose Levy, 63, and Mrs. Beila Gerfeld, 40.

The station wagon again reversed and careened down the avenue, knocking over a traffic light stanchion before coming to a complete stop.

An angry crowd surrounded Berman, who was whisked away in a police patrol car. Berman said he put his foot on the brake when he went to park, and that he kept pressing the brake. The car has an automatic transmission.

Berman was given a traffic violation summons for driving on a sidewalk.

Won't Change Prayer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Episcopal Church has shunted aside a proposed change in the Lord's Prayer.

The diocese of Harrisburg, Pa., proposed at the church's general convention Thursday that the words "lead us not into temptation," be changed to "let us not fall into temptation."

The matter was promptly referred to a long-range study committee.

Police Rescue 20 From Utica Fire

UTICA, N. Y. (AP) — Two policemen rescued 20 persons early today from a burning building in downtown Utica. Two residents and a fireman were hospitalized after being overcome by smoke.

Barney Black, 72, operator of a delicatessen in the two-story frame building, was reported in critical condition from inhaling smoke. He had a heart ailment, attaches at St. Elizabeth Hospital said.

His wife, Bessie, 68, and Fireman Anthony Skane, 39, were considered in good condition.

Two other firemen were injured but returned to duty after treatment.

Fire officials credited Patrolmen Richard Frank and Lynn Paquette for rescuing residents of the combination store and apartment building. Frank carried the Blacks out, and he and Paquette rescued the others.

The fire damaged the delicatessen and a grocery.

Fire Chief Leo Wheeler said the fire apparently broke out in paper cartons near an overheated motor.

Father of Six Is Fatally Stabbed by Wife

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The father of six children was stabbed to death today during a quarrel with his wife, police reported.

The body of the victim, Joseph Mark, 30, was found in a hallway outside his apartment in the Dante housing project on Buffalo's waterfront. Neighbors had called police to report a disturbance.

Mark's wife, Dorothy, 27, told police she used the knife to protect herself after Mark came home this morning and began striking her over the head with a bottle. A single-bladed pocket knife was confiscated.

Police were questioning her. No charge was placed immediately.

The six children, ranging in age from nine months to ten years, are being taken care of by the children's aid society.

Mark was unemployed. Both are Negroes.

Truck Fall Is Fatal

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Paul C. Jensen, 56, of nearby Baldwinsville, was injured fatally today when he fell from his gasoline tank truck at an oil storage plant.

C133 Hops Pacific

SCOTT AIR FORCE BASE, Ill. (AP) — The first Pacific crossing by the Air Force's four-engine C133 Cargomaster was announced Thursday night by the Military Air Transport Service.

The turbo-prop giant made the flight of 2,142 nautical miles from Travis AFB, Calif., to Hickam AFB, Hawaii, in 8 hours, 58 minutes.

The Cargomaster was described as the first air carrier capable of carrying nuclear and other advanced weapons to strategic destinations with speed and efficiency.

Extra Tricks Top Boards

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Here is a hand from the Masters' Pair that show how good duplicate players go after an extra trick.

Fred Berger of Natchez won East's king of spades with the ace and took stock of the hand. He could run off his clubs and watch for discards but he decided that East was marked with all missing high cards for his opening bid. Hence, Freddy went right over to dummy with a club, led a heart and finessed his jack.

Now he ran off the whole club suit, discarding three diamonds from dummy. East commenced to feel the pressure early. He discarded all his four spades and the three of diamonds.

Now Freddy played his queen of spades and East realized that he had to hang on to all three hearts. He let the king of diamonds go in the hope that his partner would hold the queen.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Archibald Damm, pastor of St. Joseph's Church.

For the occasion the church was decorated with white gladioli and white mums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of imported Italian chiffon velvet with V-neckline and Venice lace collar beaded with sequins and pearls. Her headpiece consisted of a matching double queens crown which secured an imported silk French illusion veil with hand rolled edge. She carried a spray of white orchids on a prayer book.

Maid of honor Miss June Petromale of Glasco wore a princess line full length gown of emerald green iridescent taffeta with removable jacket and

ANSWERING SOMEBODY ELSE'S TELEPHONE

Dear Mrs. Post: Last weekend several of us attended the out-of-town wedding of my nephew. After the wedding reception all of us were invited to return to the home of the bride's parents for a buffet supper before leaving for home. While our hostess was busy in the kitchen, the telephone (located in the living room where we were seated) rang quite a few times. Realizing she did not hear the telephone and thinking it might be important, I answered it and called her to the telephone. After the hostess returned to the kitchen my brother-in-law told me that I had no right to do this and that I committed a breach of etiquette. Under the circumstances, was I wrong?

Answer: It would have been better to have gone toward the kitchen and called to the hostess. "Mrs. Jones, the telephone is ringing. Do you wish me to answer it?"

Your Dog in a Friend's House

Dear Mrs. Post: When going to visit friends or acquaintances in the evening, is it wrong to bring our dog with us? My husband thinks it is, as there are many people who do not like a dog in their house. Will you please give us your opinion on this matter?

Answer: If your dog is perfectly trained and can be counted on never to make a mistake, you may take him to the houses of those who like dogs, and who answer your request to bring him with an enthusiastic "Yes."

Returning the Engagement Ring

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend and I have been having an argument on the following matter and would like you to settle it. This friend says that when the man breaks the engagement, the girl is entitled to keep the ring, but that when she breaks the engagement, the ring should be returned. I think it should be returned in any case. What is your opinion?

Answer: You are right—it should be returned—unless he asks her to keep it and she chooses to.

Invitations to a large wedding, a simple wedding or a country wedding, also invitations to the reception are included in Mrs. Post's leaflet, E-10, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

The Mature Parent

Unfaced Wish for 'Perfect' Child Can Lead to Trouble

On the phone the bright intermediate voice of our youngster's sixth grade teacher says, "Could you come to see me after school tomorrow? There's a little problem of Steven's I'd like to talk over with you."

After a moment we ask, "What sort of problem, Miss Barnes?"

"One that I'd prefer to discuss with you personally," Miss Barnes says so firmly that we agree to the interview — and hang up.

The palms of our hands have broken out into a light mist of sweat. Our mouth feels dry. Under our breastbone, anxiety is fusing itself into the familiar, resisting lump of tension.

We sleep badly. The next day Steven's problem turns out to be evasion of fines on some overdue school library books. Relieved, we promise to do something about it—and forget all about those sweating palms, the tension under our breastbone, our restless night.

This is wasteful of us. For those signs of anxiety have told us something we need to know about ourselves. They have told us that we are a mother who feels obliged to produce a problemless child. They've told us that the merest suggestion that Steven isn't functioning perfectly had the power to make us feel attacked and helpless.

By forgetting those painful symptoms, we are evading important knowledge about ourselves.

Public Hearing on Budget Set by Board for Nov. 6th

First reading of the proposed budget, which tentatively fixes at $104,792 the amount to be raised by general taxes in the Town of Woodstock, occupied the attention of the Town Board at the September meeting at town hall.

The full board was present, with Supervisor Joseph (Buzzy) Fitzsimmons serving as chairman. After the reading and some questions from the floor, the board set Thursday, Nov. 6, as the date for a public hearing on the budget. The date will also be the November meeting date for the board.

Councilman Tobie Geertsema, the independent member of the board, observed that the combined cost of janitorial service and work by the Provenzano firm amounted to $950, fifty dollars short of the requirement for legal bids.

In the discussion that followed, Supervisor Fitzsimmons said he felt the system had worked well over the years without bids. Councilman Geertsema asked if the work would be submitted for public bid, if the cost equaled the minimum requirement of $1,000. Justice of the Peace Forno observed that in such an eventuality the bids might be less than $1,000 obviating the necessity for bids the following year.

Town Hall Rental
Dixon McGrath inquired about the anticipated revenues from rental charges for the town hall, asking if the receipts were sufficient to meet all operational costs. It was pointed out that they do not, but Justice Forno said the town hall was public property and large asset to the community. The benefit to the public more than offset the small operational loss he said.

Supervisor Fitzsimmons announced that the new maps of the township had arrived and he directed the committee in charge of numbering residences and business places to proceed with the project. The committee includes Councilman Charles Farley and Mrs. Geertsema. Properties in the immediate village area will be numbered first, after which names will be selected for unnamed roads and streets.

Joan Cantine inquired if individual citizens could submit suggestions for names of streets and roads to the town board committee. Supervisor Fitzsimmons replied that such suggestions would be welcomed and would receive the consideration of the committee.

Recreation Appropriation
A question posed by Irving Kalish revealed that the appropriation for the Recreation Committee next year would be double the figure for 1957. A $3,000 item is included in the proposed budget. An additional $1,000 will be received in state aid, bringing the total to $4,000 or double the amount that was available this year.

Joan Casey spoke in behalf of Fire Company No. 4 and thanked the town board for paying for half the cost of the new siren. The town will reimburse later by Civilian Defense. Councilman Geertsema inquired if it was standard procedure for a town board to be part of such a transaction. Supervisor Fitzsimmons said it was done by many boards around the state.

Monies received during the month included $29.15 by the town clerk and $855.90 by the recreation and general fund, it was announced. Bills were audited and ordered paid.

Members of the board present were Supervisor Fitzsimmons, chairman; Justices of the Peace Charles Farley and Joseph S. Forno; Councilmen John Pike and Tobie Geertsema and Marjorie Harder, clerk.

Fitzsimmons Blasts Rumors On Welfare Fund

Total welfare charges against the Town of Woodstock have amounted to only $55.45 in approximately five years, Supervisor Joseph (Buzzy) Fitzsimmons said in a sharply worded statement at this week's town board meeting.

Supervisor Fitzsimmons who is chairman of the town board and has served as welfare officer without pay since 1954, gave a detailed account of welfare charges since 1954 in rebuttal against what he termed "certain rumors that I have been spending welfare funds recklessly."

"I would like to publicly refute such rumors," said Fitzsimmons "and, if the people who started those rumors are in this room now, I hope they will take heed and check their figures before starting such rumors."

Fitzsimmons detailed report on welfare expenditures revealed that in 1954, his first as welfare officer, the town spent $31.52 in welfare. Of this amount half was reimbursed by state aid for a net cost to the township of $15.76.

"Not a single penny was spent on welfare in the years 1955 and 1957," Fitzsimmons continued. "In 1956, the town spent $73.25 and received state aid in the amount of $33.56 for a net charge of $39.69."

"Up to tonight," he added, "nothing has spent on welfare during 1958. So the total charge to the town since I became welfare officer in 1954 has been just $55.45. I hardly think that represents reckless spending."

Fire Company Studies System
The Map Committee of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 reported on its recent trip to Margaretville at the monthly meeting Monday night, which was also observed as Ladies Night.

The committee visited Margaretville to see how the fire alarm system there operates. They had previously studied various other systems and are now in a position to proceed with a master plan for Woodstock.

Fire Chief George Haythorne reported no fires for the month. It was also reported that two air tanks for Scott Air Packs have been purchased.

As there are now four fire companies in the town, it will be necessary to change the company's by-laws to conform with state requirements. Amendments designed to meet these requirements received their first reading.

Bob Hastings resigned as temporary captain, since Eric Wilz, assistant chief, and officers are now again at full strength. Chief Haythorne accepted Hastings' resignation and thanked him for stepping in at the time of the emergency.

Other Arrangements
Duncan Wilson reported that all arrangements have been completed for the Open House which is scheduled on the last day of national Fire Prevention Week on Saturday, Oct. 11. Area Girl and Boy Scouts have been invited to visit the fire house from 10 a. m. to 12 noon. Open house will be from 1 to 5 p. m. for inspection and also to show at the same time how the donations have been spent by the company.

There will also be a display of fire extinguishers for use in the home and places of business. Members will be on hand to explain their operation. These extinguishers may be purchased from the fire company, with the profits therefrom being used in the upkeep and purchase of equipment.

After the meeting, slides of the company's 50th anniversary were shown by Albert Cashdollar, as were slides by Henry Bertsch, showing flowers and the Town of Woodstock during the four seasons of the year.

The slides were greatly enjoyed by the many women present. Refreshments were served.

Strassberg Receives Promotion in Germany
Fred Strassberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strassberg of Woodstock, recently was promoted to Specialist Four in Augsburg, Germany, where he is a member of the 24th Medical Battalion.

Specialist Strassberg, assigned to the battalion's Company A, entered the Army in January, 1957, and received basic training at Fort Dix, N. J. He arrived in Europe in November, 1957.

The 22-year-old soldier is a 1952 graduate of Franklin Lane High School and a 1956 graduate of New York University.

Riding Club Sets Annual Meeting Date
The Woodstock Riding Club will hold its annual meeting Thursday, Oct. 16, at Odd Fellows Hall in Bearsville.

Directors will be elected and the annual report will be made. George Hard, club president, will preside. Dues for membership in the 1959 year are due on this date. Every member is urged to attend.

Fashion Show Slated Wednesday at Club
A fashion show entitled "Fashions for Fall" will be presented Wednesday, Oct. 15, at the Woodstock Country Club starting at 8:30 p. m. under the auspices of the Rosary and Altar Society of St. John's Parish.

Mrs. Dorothy Narel, society editor of the Kingston Daily Freeman, will be narrator and Clementine Needell will furnish the musical background. There will be entertainment by the Misses Elise and Ellen Ross on their accordions; a solo by Mrs. Frank Lynch; Joseph Naccarato, guitarist; and Peter Mathews, banjo.

'Sin, Disease, Death' Lesson Sermon Topic At Christ Scientist
"Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon at Christian Science services in Woodstock Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon is this Golden Text: "Salvation belongeth unto the Lord thy blessing is upon thy people (Psalms 3:68)."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (206:26-28): "Instead of God sending sickness and death, He destroys them, and brings to light immortality."

From the King James Version of the Bible the following will be read: "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but power, and of love, and of a sound mind" (II Timothy 1:7).

Mass for Pope Pius Sunday at St. Joan's
A special High Mass and services for the repose of the soul of Pope Pius XII will be said at St. Joan of Arc's Church, Woodstock, on Sunday at 11 a. m., the Rev. Jeremiah F. Nemecek has announced.

The services in Woodstock are part of those planned around the world by Catholics.

Historical Group Plans Annual Dinner-Meeting Here
The annual dinner-meeting of the Ulster County Historical Society will be held on Friday, Oct. 17, at 6:30 p. m. at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Joining them this year will be the Friends of the Senate House.

The two societies will present as guest speaker Roland Robbins, lecturer, photographer, historian, archaeologist, author.

Mr. Robbins, a New Englander, is currently associated with the Sleepy Hollow Restoration near Tarrytown. He will speak on the subject "Archaeological Research near Philippe Manor Dutch Trading Post."

Known as "The Pick and Shovel Historian" his "digs and discoveries" include the Saugus Ironworks and its restoration, Thomas Jefferson's birthplace, Thoreau's Walden Pond cabin site and DuPont's early powder mills at Wilmington, Del. As a hobby he collects rural yarns and legends. His able and entertaining presentation of historic facts has made him a popular lecturer at many organizations, among them the Harvard Club of Boston and the New York Historical Society.

Robert A. MacKinnon, treasurer of the Historical Society, 233 Fair street, will accept reservations for the dinner and lecture.

Smorgasbord Is Served
During the weekend, if you are expecting guests and can't figure what to serve — be different — serve Swedish Smorgasbord.

This delightful, festive way of serving is a complete meal in keeping with the trend toward simplified entertaining. Smorgasbord is no longer a tremendous array of tempting tidbits to whet the appetite before a hearty meal or banquet. This you only see in restaurants.

How to serve smorgasbord? Start with a basic menu, then expand it according to the number of guests and your personal preferences.

The custom of smorgasbord originated in Sweden but each of the Scandinavian countries has a similar buffet. In Denmark, it's called smorrebrod. In Norway, it's smoggaas and in Finland, it's voileipapöytä.

In planning a smorgasbord provide food for each of these categories — appetizers, salads and sliced cold foods, hot dishes, cheese.

Place all the food on the table at once including the beverages. Traditional smorgasbord beverages are ale or beer.

The beauty of serving a Swedish smorgasbord is that once the food is on the table, the host and hostess may relax and enjoy the company of their guests.

Unless you are fortunate enough to have servants, the cooking, serving, cleaning, involved in a formal dinner can be very exhausting.

The foods you serve need not be Swedish, although it would be nice to include a few just to show-off your culinary talents.

Here is a suggested menu for your smorgasbord:

Fish in tins (arranged on a wooden platter or bread board); relishes in matching bowls (a lazy Susan would be fine here); assorted canapés; shrimp with a dunking sauce and deviled eggs; molded fruit salad; sliced cold meats; sliced liver pate; salads in crystal bowls; brown beans and meatballs on warming stands; basket of breads (suggest delicious whole grain breads); cheese board; butter balls; a pitcher of your favorite cold beverage.

If you want to give the dinner a really Swedish touch, you should include the following:

Herring—An essential which can be served in many forms: mixed with sour cream and onion slices, pickled, in hot casserole dishes and in molded beet salads.

Cold meats—these may include baked ham, roast beef and head cheese;

Relishes—arrange in matching bowls ready-to-serve olives, pickles, pickled beets and spiced crab apples;

Bread—pumpernickle, Swedish Limpa or soft rye, whole grain breads.

Stacks of plates on the smorgasbord table provide guests with a clean plate for each course. Use small plates rather than the regular dinner size.

Progression around the smorgasbord table should be counterclockwise. (If anyone disobeys this rule, he is apt to bump into a lot of other guests and not get much to eat.)

The setting will be typically Swedish if the table is covered with a yellow or blue cloth and topped with serving accessories in brass, wood, pottery, straw, crystal and wrought iron.

Gay roosters provide another traditional decoration. Card-board cut-outs, some paint, rick-rack and sequins are used to make them. Attach to paper cups in a pair to flank tall candles.

Anyone who is interested in some authentic Swedish recipes, may contact me, and I'll pass them along to you.

Isabella II became Queen of Spain at the age of 3 in 1833, on the death of her father, Ferdinand VII.

Jamali Trial Ends

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Iraq's special military court has completed the trial of Fadhil Jamali on charges of crimes against the state and people during the monarchy. He is in prison awaiting the verdict.

Advices from Baghdad today are that the ex-premier, recent foreign minister and former chief of the Iraqi delegation to the U. N., may not learn his fate for weeks. The five-man court, set up after the revolutionary government after the overthrow and killing of King Faisal in July, reportedly intends to complete the trials of all accused leaders of the king's regime before announcing the verdicts.

State Bureau Is Reported Saving Areas 2 Million

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Division of Standards and Purchase is helping local governments and school districts save two million dollars a year in buying supplies, Gov. Harriman said today.

Harriman said in a statement that 755 local units, including 459 school districts were participating in the program.

The governor said Charles H. Kriger, commissioner of standards and purchase, had informed him that savings on gasoline had exceeded $640,000.

"More than eight million gallons were purchased at our contract price of less than 13 cents a gallon, compared with a price of 21 cents a gallon, which was the lowest any of them had been paying before," Kriger told the governor.

The commissioner said local units had made "tremendous savings" in the purchase of electric lamps, fire hoses, power lawn mowers, spark plugs, antifreeze and office supplies.

Kriger said he expected the number of participating units to double during the next year.

Harriman Salutes Italian Americans

In Columbus Note

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Harriman saluted Americans of Italian descent today as he proclaimed Oct. 12 as Columbus Day in New York State.

Harriman said Christopher Columbus' pioneering spirit "has been carried forward by the millions of other men and women who came from Italy to live among us."

"Their contributions and those of their descendants," the governor said, "have greatly enriched the economic, social, cultural and spiritual life of our state and nation."

Oct. 18 will be Physicians' and Surgeons' Day. In a proclamation Thursday, the governor praised the medical profession, "which serves us so faithfully and so well."

New Library System Announced by State

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The State Education Department announced today formation of the North Country Library System—the fourth such cooperative system organized in the state.

The new system, established by trustees of 35 existing libraries, serves St. Lawrence, Lewis and Jefferson counties.

It will receive an initial grant of $50,000 plus annual Education Department funds based on the area and population served.

Under the plan, member libraries will arrange such services as interlibrary loan and delivery service, rotating collections of books, field advisory service and central cataloging and processing.

John B. Johnson of Watertown was elected chairman of the 11-member board of trustees.

Kirby Is Chairman Of Rail Executives

NEW YORK (AP) — Allan P. Kirby, chairman and president of the Alleghany Corp., was elected chairman Thursday of the New York Central Railroad's executive committee.

Other directors named to the committee were Alfred E. Perlman Central president; William E. Eppler, head of a management consulting firm; Eugene C. Pulliam, president and publisher of the Indianapolis Star G News and The Phoenix Republic and Gazette; and Daniel E. Taylor, president of the West India Fruit &amp; Steamship Co.

Florida Display

Rocket Is Blown Apart After It Goes Off Badly

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A powerful Jupiter rocket was blown apart in a blazing display of missile fireworks over Cape Canaveral Thursday night.

It was the third ballistic weapon in a row to explode shortly after liftoff in the past month.

The Jupiter — the usually reliable 1,500-mile missile which also will provide the big punch for the Army's moon rocket — was deliberately destroyed after it swerved violently out of control several thousand feet high.

One huge chunk crashed back on the cape with a roar; other debris splashed into the ocean nearby. No one was injured and there was no property damage reported.

Salvage crews searched for broken pieces of the 60-foot rocket to help Army missilemen determine the trouble.

The Jupiter thundered aloft from billows of white flame and smoke, but appeared to sway slightly as it climbed toward space. After 32 seconds it was blown up by the range safety officer.

There was a bright flash and an ear-splitting noise. Then the broken war rocket spun earthward in looping, cartwheel fashion, trailing streams of white flame.

Elmira Pollution Survey Completed

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner, today announced the completion of a five-week field study of air pollution in the greater Elmira area.

The survey tracked down sources of air pollution and determined their quantities and types. It was carried out by a team of engineers assigned to the Air Pollution Control Board by the state Departments of Health and Labor.

Findings will be outlined in a report due in January, Hilleboe said.

The Elmira survey was the first undertaken by the state and will serve as a pattern for similar investigations in other parts of the state.

BABSON on BUSINESS

By Roger W. Babson

En Route to Africa, Oct. 10.—My recent column on the value of waterfront property stirred up so much interest that I have written two more columns on the subject so as to have them published while I am out on the ocean "surrounded by ocean front." Let me repeat, however, that waterfront property refers not only to land bordering the ocean; but also to land bordering rivers, lakes, and other water bodies where you can enjoy an outdoor motor. This is property which will be more valuable ten years, thirty years, fifty years, or a hundred years from now.

There will be little more natural waterfront than now exists. This is the surest way an investor can make money with real security, assuming he is able to take care of the taxes on said land. Of course, the taxes can usually be added to the original cost so that the investor gets his tax money back when he sells the property. It, however, is better if he can rent the land, or cut wood from it, or otherwise get income from it each year to pay the taxes. A good tax accountant or tax lawyer will show you how you can also set the property up so that "Uncle Sam" will pay all or half of these taxes!

Illustrations of Possible Profits

A correspondent who paid $12,000 for some land has recently been able to sell the same to a cement company for $150,000. This property gave the cement company a much-needed shipping point. A granddaughter of mine who paid $7.20 an acre for 1000 acres has been offered $100 an acre for that land because it borders a lake. Many land owners in Florida have been willing to pay $500 an acre for small strips to enable them to get to the water. The builder of a motel on the coast of Massachusetts has paid $50,000 for land which the seller had bought for only $1,000.

The builder of a supermarket has paid a fabulous price for the land between a main highway and a lake which is surrounded by numerous cottages. This location enables the supermarket to serve people who come in motor boats as well as those who come in automobiles. A New England lime company recently paid a high price for some shore property in order to get access to the water. In addition to the above instances, there are cases where the land itself, aside from its location, has become valuable due to the discovery of gravel, lime, bauxite, or other minerals,—yes and for timber.

Hoople Goes on Limb

New Rochelle Picked To End KHS Win Streak

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE

Last week I saw a movie about some man eating monsters. The cinema put my free wheeling brain to work and what funny sounds it made. Harumph. It could only mean one thing. After much research through Plato's writings and Shakespeare's novels, my conclusion is that Kingston High School's proud 18 game winning streak will be washed down the drain Saturday when Burke's men face the New Rochelle monsters of Westchester County.

The Purple Wave has a half-back by the name of Small. He will look as big as a purple people eater when he smashes over the Kingston goal line, not once, but twice. Charles Tiano, my worthy Kingston ally, tells me that Hobie Armstrong will more than make up for that Small man in the New Rochelle backfield.

Alas, again I did some research and found the old saying in the book of proverbs, that "all good things must come to an end." However, fear not Kingston players and fans. Because even if you should lose this week (and the Major is never wrong) you can take your wrath out next Saturday on dear old Sam Kallough and his flunkies from Poughkeepsie High School.

9 Right, 4 Wrong
Last week, despite the fact my thoughts were centered on my beloved Bombers from the Bronx who looked like Burns from Brooklyn in the World Series, I picked nine winners in 13 games, certainly not perfect, but even I make mistakes once in a while. Harumph.

Anyway, for you Kingston fans who are making the trip to the wilds of Westchester County, the final score will be New Rochelle 20, Kingston 14. If the Maroon jungle bunnies lose, remember, the Major himself told you so. If they win, I shall take a flying trip to Mars, and will bring my neck and the hangman's noose with me, because the fans may not appreciate my guaranteed picks.

Another Fan Calls
One of my fans in upper Slavonia called me (collect) this aye and wanted a prediction on the Notre Dame-Army soap opera at South Bend tomorrow. This game required more thought than usual because Red Blaik has the "Lone Ranger" working for him. This man plays end and doesn't even go into the huddles. But the Irish still have Monty Stickles and he still has a right leg and better still, a right foot. What did I tell my Slavonia fan? Well, Notre Dame to win a close one, 21-20.

And now, without further ado, here are my guaranteed picks for this week. The only way I could be wrong are if the teams I pick to win turn around and lose. How's that for figuring?

Scholastic
New Rochelle 20, Kingston 14
Poughkeepsie 13, Linton 7

Highland 6, Mt. Kisco 0
Marlboro 7, Monroe-Woodbury 0

Orange Favored To Beat Cornell

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — The Cornell football team, despite an undefeated season and a triple-threat quarterback, meets Syracuse Saturday as an underdog. It will be the 34th meeting of the two teams and the last for a time.

The other member of the Upstate Big Three, Colgate, clashes with Bucknell and is expected to win. Neither team has won a game this season.

The Orange is favored to win at Archbold Stadium in Syracuse because of its stronger schedule and greater reserve strength. A note of caution, however—Syracuse has been a sucker for a passing attack and Cornell's Tom Skyeck is a master passer, as well as a kicker and runner.

In its first two games this year, one of which was a defeat, Syracuse made only 89 yards through the air. Its pass defense gave up 393 yards.

Skyeck has passed only when necessary. But when he did, he displayed accuracy and poise. The Big Red was no match for the Orangemen last year, losing 34-0 at Ithaca. This year, Cornell has beaten Colgate and Harvard, two weak sisters so far this season. Syracuse defeated Boston College but lost to Holy Cross.

Since the Syracuse-Cornell rivalry began in 1891, Cornell has won 23 games, Syracuse 10. Scheduling difficulties have ended the rivalry for an indefinite period.

Colgate goes into the Bucknell encounter at Lewisburg, Pa., with a varsity end and three reserves left at home with injuries. Several other walking wounded will make the trip but will see little, if any, action. Among them is regular end Al Jamison, who Coach Fred Rice says, will play "only if we are in desperate shape."

But Bucknell has its problems too. The team appears to be troubled by its switch from the split-T to the regular-T.

The Bisons have been defeated by Gettysburg and Carnegie Tech. Colgate has lost to Cornell and Rutgers.

Hi-Lites Of Series

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Hi-lites and lo-lites of the 1958 World Series:

First game — Braves 4, Yankees 3. Warren Spahn beat reliever Ryne Duren in 10th on Billy Bruton's single which scored Joe Adcock from second. Home runs by Bill Skowron and Hank Bauer gave Yankees early 3-2 lead. But Wes Covington's sacrifice fly in the eighth tied it.

Second game — Braves 13, Yankees 5. Braves produced seven run, first inning rally, featured by Bruton's leadoff homer and a three-run home run by Lew Burdette. Burdette was touched for two homers by Mickey Mantle and one by Bauer but had little trouble defeating Yankees for fourth consecutive time. Bob Turley was the losing pitcher.

Third game — Yankees 4, Braves 0. Don Larsen and Duren combined to pitch a six-hitter. Bauer drove in all New York's runs with a bases-filled single off Bob Rush in the fifth and a two-run homer off Don McMahon in the seventh.

Fourth game — Braves 3, Yankees 0. Spahn allowed only two hits to win his second game. Whitey Ford was victimized by poor fielding as left fielder Norm Siebern misplayed Red Schoendienst's sixth inning drive into a triple and the Braves scored the game's first run. Shortstop Tony Kubek let a grounder go through his legs. Siebern also set up the final Braves' run by losing Johnny Logan's fly in the sun. Schoendienst's fine play on Yogi Berra's line drive with a runner on third and two out in the fourth saved Spahn's shutout.

Fifth game — Yankees 7, Braves 0. Turley hurled a five-hitter and struck out 10. Yankees beat B...ette for the first time, scoring on Gil McDougald's third inning homer and adding six runs in the sixth. Elston Howard's diving catch which resulted in a double play cut off a potential Milwaukee rally in the sixth.

Sixth game — Yankees 4, Braves 3. McDougald's home run and a run-producing single by Skowron off Spahn in the 10th gave the Yankees the victory. Braves bounced back for one in their 10th and had two runners on base. But Turley nailed pinch-hitter Frank Torre on a pop fly to end the game. Duren won the winning pitcher, striking out eight in an excellent 4-2-3 inning relief stint. Bauer hit fourth series homer to tie the record. Howard doubled Andy Palko at the plate after catching short fly and shortened Braves' second inning uprising.

Seventh game — Yankees 6, Braves 2. Turley, in relief of Don Larsen, allowed only two hits in 6-2-3 innings. Yankees wrapped up game in eighth with four-run rally highlighted by Howard's RBI single and a three-run homer by Skowron. Burdette was touched for two unearned runs in the second and lost his second series game. Yankees became first team since Pittsburgh in 1925 to win series after losing three of first four games.

Ancient St. Andrews Honors Bobby Jones... The Greatest

By JOHN FARROW
ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — The Old Lady of St. Andrews has shown her teeth to the world's amateur golfers this week — but she showed a smile for Bobby Jones Thursday night.

The Old Lady — the Old Course — once treated the legendary Jones in the same way she treated golfers like Iceland's Sven Arseeksson, Austria's Attilio Smechia and Portugal's Jose De Sousa Melo in the first two rounds of the 72-hole World Amateur Championship.

Arseeksson includes 105 in his score. Melo has a 104 and Smechia 100. They found new hope Thursday after hearing Jones tell of his experience over the Old Course on his visit here 37 years ago. Jones, tore up his card after playing 10½ holes.

He came back in 1927, conquered the Old Course and never lost a championship on it.

Made a Freeman
Thursday night the Town Council of St. Andrews honored the 56-year-old Georgian, now crippled with spine trouble, by making him a Freeman of the town.

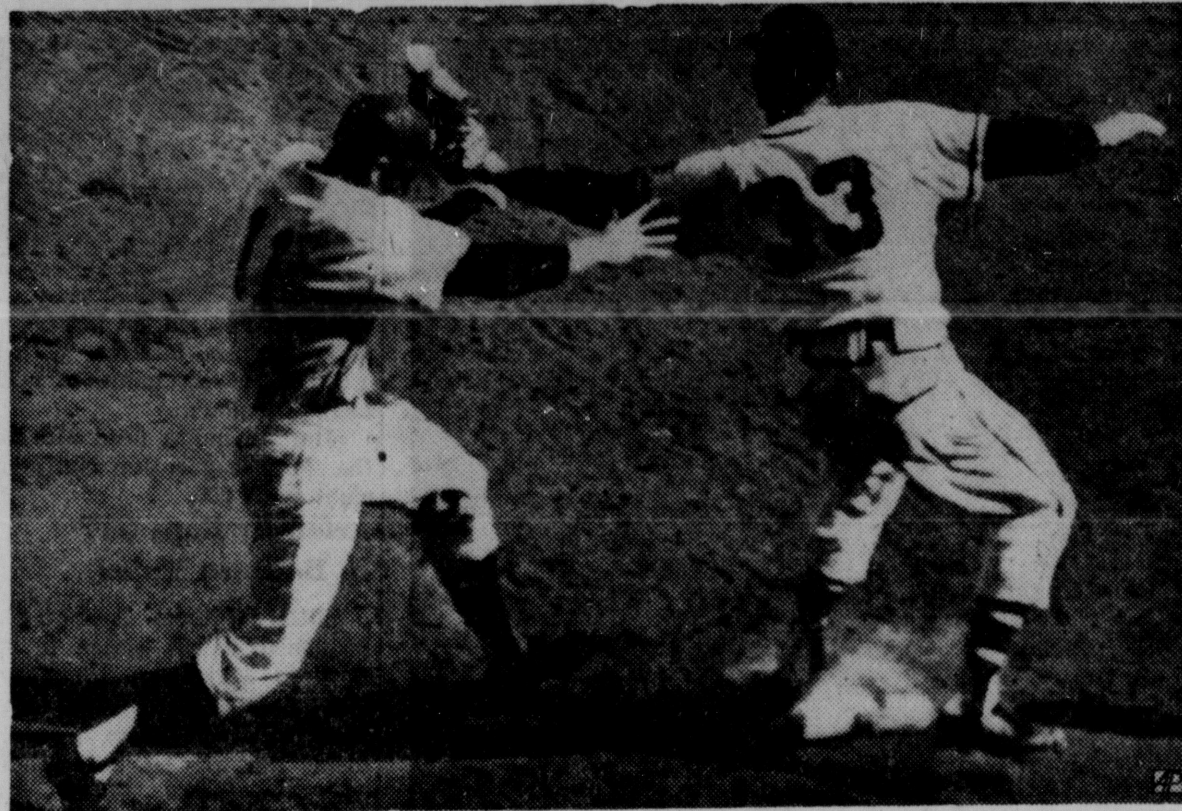

Britain, with a team total of 461 leads the standings after two rounds of the World Amateur. New Zealand is second with 462 and the United States third with 465.

The three low scorers in each team count toward the aggregate. Individual pacemaker after two rounds was Bob Charles of New Zealand with 74-74-148.

Reid Jack of Britain with 72-77-149, was second in the unofficial race and United States Amateur champion Charles Coe of Oklahoma City third with 74-77-151.

Other American scorers were: Billy Hyndman, Philadelphia 79-77-156.

Billy Joe Patton, Morganton, N. C. 80-78-158.
Dr. Frank Taylor of Pomona, Calif. 81-79-160.

Top Ranked Teams to Meet

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

If you feel any earth tremors this weekend, it probably won't be Mother Nature. They've just loaded the weekend football schedule with blockbusters.

It could add up to some violent changes in next week's Associated Press rankings.

The fireworks begin tonight in Miami's Orange Bowl, where 11th-ranked Louisiana State visits Miami's Hurricanes. The Bengals are undefeated in three games. Miami, rated the top Southern independent, has a 1-1 record.

Saturday, Army makes only its second trip ever to Notre Dame to finish off the second of the current two-game series. The Cadets ranked No. 3, bring along their "bazooka" offense and "lonesome end" to match fourth-ranked Notre Dame's varied offense and staunch defense.

Down in the Southwest, another traditional battle — Oklahoma at Texas — will sell out the Cotton Bowl. The Sooners, No. 2, are favored to beat the 16th ranked Longhorns, undefeated in three games.

Auburn Test
Top-ranked Auburn tests its real defensive skill against explosive Kentucky in the Southeast Conference's top game.

Wisconsin (No. 6) plays host to Purdue (No. 13) in a Big Ten battle of unbeaten, and unscorred-upons. Another Big Ten clash sends Ohio State (No. 5) to Illinois in the day's television game.

Another SEC game pits seventh-ranked Mississippi against Tulane, while Atlantic Coast Conference favorite Clemson (No. 8) meets member Vanderbilt.

Ninth-rated Michigan State sends its multiple offense against a Pitt line that has stymied three opponents. The Patheons (No. 10) are a 10-point underdog.

Fifteenth-ranked Oregon, who lost a 6-0 squeaker to Oklahoma last week, meets Southern California in the West Coast's top game.

Montreal Wins Wild NHL Game

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The schedule said it was only the first game of the season but you would have thought the Montreal Canadiens and the Boston Bruins were still playing in the Stanley Cup the way they went after each other Thursday night.

The Canadiens, who defeated the Bruins four games to two last spring in the cup finale, started their season with a 3-2 victory over Boston in the only game scheduled in the National Hockey League.

But before they achieved the triumph with Dickie Moore, Andre Pronovost and Doug Harvey scoring the goals, there was enough wild play to last a season. Jerry Toppazzini and Vic Stasiuk prevented goalie Jacques Plante from turning in a shutout with goals in the last six minutes.

The Bruins drew a total of $125

in automatic fines as the result of the wild first period action. Bronco Horvath drew a fine of $75, after being charged with a misconduct and game penalty. Don McKenney was handed a misconduct penalty, calling for a $25 fine, for squawking after Bob Armstrong had been given a penalty for slashing. And Herb Flaman injured Pronovost in another melee. The penalty also called for $25 fine.

Pronovost needed five stitches to close a cut over his right eye after tangling with Flaman. Plante was struck on the chin by one of Vic Stasiuk's shots and required seven stitches to close the wound.

Gold Worthy Wins at Yonkers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 5-year-old stallion, Gold Worthy, set a sizzling tempo at the quarter and held off a late bid by B'Haven to capture the $10,000 Cortland Free-For-All handicapped pace Thursday night at Yonkers Raceway.

In the co-featured $10,000 handicap trot, Trader Horn broke a three-race losing skid when he won by three-quarters of a length over Model Heir.

Gold Worthy, driven by Jimmy Cruise, toured the mile in a fast 2:00 1-5 for his fourth victory in 18 starts this season. He returned $7.40 as second choice.

Trader Horn covered the mile in 2:04 1-5 and paid $4.70 as the favorite. Billy Houghton drove.

At Saratoga Raceway, favored Bob Henley took command at the turn past the quarter and won the $1,600 Ogdensburg pace by nearly four lengths.

The 3-year-old colt stepped the mile in 2:06 for his seventh triumph of the year. He paid $2.60.

Roya Direct led throughout but had to stave off Nancy Thew at the wire to win by a head in the feature pace at Vernon Downs.

The 5-year-old mare's victory snapped Nancy Thew's two-pace victory string. Roya Direct returned $3.90.

Arlensky Raps 637 In Bowlero Major

Milton (Mitzie) Arlensky fashioned a 637 series in the Bowlero Major, an accomplishment that required a day longer than usual to make print. It seems that the league secretary gave the scores "to somebody else" to mail Wednesday and you know how that usually winds up. Anyway, Mitzie racked up a pair of 233s and was on his way to big things until a 171 cropped up in the third game.

Tom Carlino was runnerup by a stick with 201-211-224-636. Jerry Oster posted 203-218-201-622, Larry Petersen 216-200-605. Scores by teams:

Jones Dairy 1 (1) — Mike Provenzano 212, Al Kieffer 546, Mitzie Arlensky 637; 827-960-776-2563.

Archery Season Starts Tomorrow

Deer hunters who use the bow-and-arrow method will take to the Adirondacks Saturday as the archery season opens two weeks ahead of the regular gunning dates, there set for Oct. 25-Dec. 1.

During these two weeks, archers may take a deer of either sex. If they continue to hunt after Oct. 25, they may shoot only bucks. On Dec. 2 there'll be a statewide antlerless day for those with previous success.

Archers must obtain special hunting licenses which cost $5.25 for citizen-resident and $10 for citizen-non-resident.

Last year, 1,199 deer were bagged in the state by archers.

The province of Quebec is the largest province in Canada, covering 600,000 square miles.

Fort Modeled After Section of Vatican

Historic Fort Morgan near Mobile, Alabama, started in the 1700's, is said to have been modeled after a portion of the Vatican in Rome. The fort, whose brick arches are listed among the world's finest examples of this type of construction, was garrisoned during the War of 1812, the War Between the States, the Spanish-American War and World War I.

She was a chorus girl and she complained to her chorus girl friend:

Chorus girl--Why ain't I never invited in swell places like you are, Daisy? I get invited once and they never ask me again.

Friend--I'll tell you why you are never invited the second time. You can't discuss any subject with people when you are at a party. Why don't you read a book? Then, you'll be an interesting conversationalist?

The lectured one decided to read a book. A few days later she was invited to a dinner party. She listened to the talk for awhile and then cut in with:

Chorus girl--Wasn't that too bad about Marj Antoinette?

A young newlywed, who had recently arrived in a small town, was trying to gain membership in the local sewing circle. She was advised of the various diplomatic pitfalls which apparently made her a little apprehensive.

Newlywed (to leading member)--But what shall I wear to make a good impression the first day?

Member--Oh, just come in an open throat and a back suitable for knitting.

Have you ever wondered why the turkey looks bald and seems to have blisters on his head?

There is an old legend among the Indians of North America, the original home of the turkey, that tells the reason. The legend says that at the beginning of one winter the fire of the world had all been extinguished except one tiny spark in the hollow of a tree. And this tiny spark was dying. It would have gone out if the turkey hadn't kept it alive by fanning his wings. As the heat increased, all the feathers were singed off his head, and he kept on fanning, and so gave fire back to the world.

So the turkey's bald head and blisters are really a badge of honor.

Much Cooler Is Weekend Outlook

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The extended weather forecasts for New York State, prepared by the U. S. Weather Bureau, for the period from 7 p. m. today to 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Eastern New York — A colder period is expected with temperatures averaging several degrees below normal. Much cooler over the weekend, and remaining cool through midweek. A few widespread light showers Saturday and rain by midweek, with precipitation averaging one-quarter to one-half inch.

Western New York — A winter prologue is indicated with temperatures averaging several degrees below normal. Turning much cooler over the weekend, with showers and snow flurries near the Great Lakes. Continued cool Monday through Wednesday with a few light showers near the Great Lakes. Less than one-quarter inch of precipitation is expected.

Temperature Normals—Normal temperatures over Upstate New York now range from overnight lows in the upper 30s and the 40s to afternoon highs in the upper 50s and 60s.

Plan Under Way To Hasten System On Forecasting

NEW YORK (AP) — Twelve American universities plan to organize a national institute to hasten progress in weather forecasting.

Henry C. Houghton, director of the Department of Meteorology at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said Thursday night the institute would be supported mainly by government appropriations, and some contributions from private industry.

It will be known as the National Institute of Atmospheric Research. Houghton said the institute would be situated "near but not on" the campus of a major university.

The sponsoring universities: Arizona, California, Chicago, Cornell, Johns Hopkins, Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania State, St. Louis, Texas A & M, Wisconsin and MIT.

Houghton said it would be the summer of 1960 before a plant could be built.

He made the announcement at the annual Gold Awards dinner of the New York Board of Trade.

Execution Dates Are Set by Court

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The Court of Appeals Thursday set execution dates next month for two convicted murderers.

The state's highest tribunal set the week of Nov. 17 for execution of Edward Eckwerth, 31, of Yonkers, and Virgil Richardson, 29, of Queens.

Eckwerth, a former coffee salesman, was convicted in the 1956 slaying of school teacher Rosemary Spezzo, 24, of Yonkers.

Miss Spezzo's beaten body was found in a remote spot off the Sawmill River Parkway in Greenburgh, Westchester County.

The Court of Appeals upheld his conviction unanimously last March. His execution originally had been scheduled for the week of May 12 but has been delayed because of further appeals.

Richardson, a Negro, was convicted of shooting Patrolman William C. Long, 27, in a Jamaica, Queens, parking lot Sept. 2, 1956. The Court of Appeals also upheld his conviction unanimously, but execution was delayed pending further appeals.

Need Backbone To Win, Nixon Warns Party

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—What the Republican party needs to win in November is backbone, says Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The vice president urged his fellow Republicans Thursday to display "some of the same backbone" Harry Truman did in winning the 1948 election in the face of adverse forecasts.

"Let us resolve from this day forward," Nixon told an enthusiastic state GOP convention, "that we Republicans are not going to be defensive, apologetic or mealy-mouthed in telling voters of this country about the magnificent record of the past and the great promise of the future if the sound progressive policies of our Republican administration in Washington are continued."

In comparing the Truman administration with the Sherman Adams case, Nixon called the Truman era "the most corrupt administration in history."

He said the difference between the Truman administration and the Sherman Adams case was that "about the only way you could get people out of government when Mr. Truman was president was to put them in jail."

"Five of the top officials of the Bureau of Internal Revenue were guilty of criminal actions," the vice president declared.

Adventists Set Sabbath Services

Saturday, sabbath school of the Seventh-day Adventist Church will open with a song service under the direction of Gene Hunter, superintendent. Following opening exercise, classes will separate to study the lesson for the week entitled, "Levi-Matthew, the Publican." The children will meet with Mrs. Andrew Seaman and her assistants in the basement Sabbath school rooms.

An international "Voice" program using 271 overseas stations to penetrate religion's "Iron Curtain" will receive funds from the Kingston Seventh-day Adventist Church Saturday. "The job Christianity has to do in penetrating the Iron Curtain" that today cloaks millions of non-Christians is just as great, perhaps greater, than that of the famed "Voice of America" broadcast as it seeks to disestablish Communist ideology around the world," said the Rev. Eric R. Norman, pastor, in announcing the special offering.

The "Voice" the Rev. Mr. Norman referred to is the "Voice of Prophecy" international radio broadcast of the Seventh-day Adventists, which beams its message in 20 different languages over 800 radio stations in the U. S. and abroad.

During the 11:30 a. m. worship service there will be a recorded message from the Rev. H. M. S. Richards of the "Voice of Prophecy" radio program prior to the special offering.

The Rev. Mr. Norman will speak on "Out of the Fullness of the Heart."

The Dorcas will meet at the church from 2 to 4 p. m. Monday.

Wednesday the praise and prayer meeting will be held at the church at 7:30 p. m.
